Randy Jackson & Joyce Green-Hunter

by Becky Magura,
President & CEO of WCTE-TV/PBS

How do you possibly summarize two impactful careers that span multiple decades? You start by knowing that by today's standards it is rare. You know that it requires talent, dedication, and loyalty to the mission. You define it by the people who lived it.

I'm talking about Randy Jackson, WCTE broadcast engineer for 35 years, and Joyce Hunter Green, manager of the WCTE Great TV Auction for 26 years, who recently retired.

When Randy was a Monterey teenager, he remembers watching workers build the 800-ft. tower atop Buck Mountain that would eventually send the signal of WCTE, Upper Cumberland PBS, across the airways. I'm sure he never imagined then he would have a 35-year career helping to send that signal out locally, statewide, and nationally.

As a broadcast engineer, Randy witnessed many technical changes from 2-inch tape to tapeless production and engineering. He used to work on top of that mountain, playing many of the shows our viewers wanted to see from PBS and from right here at home. That all changed when we received funding for a studio / transmitter link and our master control operations could take place within our offices. Hard-working Randy has been seen in the heat of the summer at Smithville and in the freezing rain at TTU ballgames...running cables, checking microphones, and doing whatever was needed.

Joyce was also barely a teen when she started with WCTE.

Her incredible organizational skills, love of people, and appreciation of local business helped her take an infant Great TV Auction and grow it into adulthood...making it WCTE's most successful and largest fundraiser. She also saw many changes from a non-computerized auction to the establishment of an online auction to complement the televised one. In the very beginning, The Great TV Auction lasted only three days and raised just over $20,000, but through Joyce's leadership it grew significantly to an eight-day affair raising $100,000 annually for WCTE's locally produced programs and community engagement.

We can't replace talent like Randy and Joyce, but we are thrilled when we have new employees who embody those same characteristics and pave the way for the future of WCTE. The 2014 Great TV Auction was the last WCTE event to have the touch of Randy and Joyce, who, along with a host of talented staff, volunteers and businesses, made it our most successful auction to date!

We wish both Randy and Joyce the very best in their retirement. I want to personally thank them for all that they have contributed to WCTE and to me. It's hard to see folks you have worked beside for decades move on, but it's rewarding to see all that has been accomplished because they were a part of the team. Congratulations, my friends, and remember that no matter where you go, you will always be part of our WCTE family!

Becky

Live Green Tennessee

Award-Winning Series

Pick Tennessee Products surprised Becky Magura at the Tennessee Grocers and Convenience Store Association convention in Nashville by presenting her with the "Friend of Pick TN Products 2014" award for Live Green Tennessee's contributions to Tennessee agriculture.

The series also won a Communicator Award. This is one of the largest international awards programs of its kind, recognizing outstanding performance in marketing and communications. Live Green Tennessee won the Communicator Award of Distinction for Online Video in the Green/Eco Friendly category. The story that won the award is the Green Door Gourmet -- about a Tennessee Farm-to-Fork co-op that brings fresh produce and artisan products to the West Nashville area and hosts a Community Supported Agriculture program.

You can watch the story on YouTube by typing in "Live Green Tennessee Green Door Gourmet."

The series started at WCTE in 2009 as a community education and outreach initiative, and blossomed into a popular half-hour magazine series. Participant PBS stations across Tennessee contribute stories about our agricultural heritage and innovative green solutions which can help us all live more prosperous and healthy lives.

Beam Me up Ralph: WCTE's Engineering Team

by Elisabeth Jones

Master Control: it sounds almost like Scotty from Star Trek, beaming up all sorts of PBS programming and local specials to your televisions at home.

According to Ralph Welch, Director of Engineering and Technology at WCTE, it is like that!

Ralph, Craig Lefevre (Master Control Operations Manager), Nathaniel Rich (Traffic), their Master Control Team including Kenneth Stults, Cody Sorrell, Tom Bulter, Josh Tinker and, until recently, Randy Jackson (Broadcast Engineer), all comprise WCTE's Engineering Team. They are the brains behind the actual broadcast.

As most of you can imagine, broadcast technology and engineering have changed greatly during WCTE's lifetime. Most programming is automated these days, which, according to Ralph, does not necessarily make things easier. "Playlists come in by computer now," he said, "and a machine plays the playlist, which consists of all the shows and breaks. You have to make sure everything that goes on the air is in order, which means constant monitoring to make sure the format and captions are correct.

In the old days, there was a paper log of shows, satellite receivers, and a stack of videotapes. You followed the log--when the shows ended, you plugged in the next tape and hit play. Of course you had watched the tape and had fixed anything that needed fixing beforehand. Fixing a tape meant splicing. Nowadays, with the digital system, you have to fix a file before airing it. The automation makes it trickier on the technical side. There is definitely a B.C./ A.D. concept with computers when it comes to broadcasting. In the early days of WCTE, if the station didn't have a show, Master Control would call another station and have them overnight a videotape. Today, WCTE simply emails another station and they send the show to them by FTP (file transfer protocol), and the technicians must change the format to play the show.

Our Engineering team is made up of both veterans and newcomers, and the newcomers are the ones with IT skills, as most of television has moved into the digital age. The veterans, however, are indispensable when it comes to troubleshooting... some things simply need to be done by hand.

Remote broadcasting poses a special challenge. Finding power in remote locations is not easy, and transmitting signals can be even trickier, says Ralph. The biggest boon to broadcasting has been the internet, which speeds up transmission with fiber connectivity; before this, engineers had to send signals via microwave.

Technology changes every year for the Great TV Auction, broadcast every May/June from the Cookeville Performing Arts Center. During the first few years of the auction, the control room was located in the orchestra pit, and anywhere from 8-10 cameras were used onstage. Ralph says they are down to 4-5 cameras now, broadcasting in HD, but the auction is still the "same great show." Another change in engineering at the auction is the Mobile Production Unit (MPU), which takes the control room out of the orchestra pit and into the CPAC parking lot. There's not a lot shot in the studio these days, and while there are still challenges, the MPU has made remote broadcasting easier.

From the early days of WCTE's broadcast engineers cutting and splicing videotape to today's IT specialists' digital enhancement of files, the members of Master Control have a passion for the nuts and bolts of bringing the Upper Cumberland their favorite public television programming. "I've never stopped learning," said Ralph Welch.

WCTE/PBS ANNUAL DINNER

Senator Charlotte Burks, Becky Magura and Commissioner Susan Whitaker

On April 24, WCTE packed the Leslie Town Centre in Cookeville to host the Annual WCTE/PBS Dinner. The theme was "Celebrating 35 Years of Music and Tourism," and our guest speaker was the Tennessee Commissioner of Tourist Development, Susan Whitaker.

The Annual Dinner is a chance for our viewers to see what is happening in the exciting world of WCTE/PBS, for us to recognize esteemed Upper Cumberland Broadcast Council Board Members who are stepping down, and to present the Maker's Award to outstanding individuals in our area.

This year, it was our pleasure to recognize board members Dr. Jack Matson and Dr. Max Atnip, who were stepping down, and to present the Maker's Award to Senator Charlotte Burks.

GREAT TV AUCTION RECORD BROKEN

Thanks to all of the bidders, viewers, volunteers, sponsors partners and WCTE staff, this was a record-breaking year for the Great TV Auction. We raised just under $110,000 and at the time this was written, we were still waiting for the results of the online portion of the auction.

"With only 7 months under my belt at WCTE, I was very unsure of how things would turn out," remarked Jodi Pitts, Auction Coordinator. "I had never even worked the auction before and now I was faced with the huge responsibility of running it."

"The Upper Cumberland came through for us! WCTE is fortunate to have the support of local businesses, viewers, volunteers and the community as a whole. I have a better understanding of just how many people are involved in running a successful auction and how much it is truly loved here in the Upper Cumberland. The auction has become a tradition synonymous with WCTE and I can't wait to see what next year will bring!"

THANK YOU!!!

Zooming in for a Close-Up

A Capitol Fourth Friday, July 4

America's national Independence Day celebration will kick off the festivities for our country's 238th birthday with an all-star salute led by our country's favorite host, two-time Emmy Award-winning television personality Tom Bergeron.

NOVA: Mystery of a Masterpiece Wednesday, July 9

In October 2009, a striking portrait of a young woman in Renaissance dress made world news headlines. Originally sold two years before for around $20,000, the portrait is now thought to be an undiscovered Leonardo da Vinci masterwork worth more than $100 million. How did cutting-edge imaging analysis help tie the portrait to Leonardo? NOVA meets a new breed of experts who are approaching "cold case" art mysteries as if they were crime scenes, determined to discover "who committed the art," and follows art sleuths as they combat the multi-billion dollar criminal market in stolen and fraudulent art.

An orphaned black rhinoceros named Rupert was brought up in the suburban family home of wildlife vet Dr. John Condy. Rupert captured the hearts of the vet's four young children before his release back into the wild. Fifty years later, the children are searching for clues to their childhood friend's fate.

Aug. 6 - "The Seal Who Came Home"

Witness the true story of Andre, a two-day-old wild harbor seal who, in 1961, was rescued from certain death by Harry Goodridge, an arborist from Rockport, Maine. ## Zooming in for a Close-Up

Al Capone: Icon Tuesday, July 22

By 1928 the "New Yorker" had already dubbed Capone "the greatest gang leader in history." His brutality was legendary even during his lifetime. It was widely known -- though almost impossible to prove -- that he engineered dozens of murders. He escalated gangland warfare to establish Chicago's supremacy over his native Brooklyn, and he operated profitable prostitution rings and speakeasies.

But always there was the outward appearance of respectability. A disciple of "gentleman gangster" Johnny Torrio, Capone considered himself a benefactor of the Italian immigrant community, his bootlegging operations a source of jobs for the poor. The son of Italian immigrants himself, Capone lived in a modest house in a middle-class Chicago neighborhood with his wife and son, his mother and siblings. He told neighbors he was a secondhand furniture dealer.

Capone — the quintessential self-made American man, ruthless killer or both? To this day, Americans are fascinated by this gangster. The question is why?

MASTERPIECE MYSTERY! Breathless

Sundays, Aug. 24 - Sept.7

Jack Davenport (Pirates of the Caribbean), Zoe Boyle (Downton Abbey), and Catherine Steadman (Mansfield Park) team up for a medical series with astounding suspense, supreme satire, and smart sixties style, airing in three parts.

The Times (London) marveled, "Jack Davenport [is] a suave gynecologist with a glint in his eye, a revolver in his pocket, and a hospital full of nurses ready to start swinging as the 1960s hit Britain." And The Independent (London) gasped, "Breathless looks absolutely lovely—it takes our breath away."

Set in London in 1961, Breathless follows the exploits of doctors, nurses, and spouses connected with a busy obstetrics ward at a National Health Service hospital. It's a time when gynecologists are all men and nurses aspire to a trip down the aisle with a good-looking doctor.

No one seems to have more going for him than Otto, a well-off gynocologist who can perform miracles in the operating room, with his trophy wife and bright son. But when his wandering eye starts to land him in trouble and an obsessed detective becomes involved, all of the closely guarded secrets begin to unravel.

Operation Maneater Wednesday, August 27

Operation Maneater follows tech-mad veterinarian Mark Evans around the world as he invents new ways for humans and deadly animals to live in harmony.

It's more complex than it sounds. People are being killed by animals in vulnerable villages, so they kill the animals (and endanger the species). Mark wants to find a way to break the cycle with crocodile attacks, polar bear attacks and great white shark attacks. His hands-on approach and his willingness to get up-close-and-personal sometimes lands him into tight situations.

American Masters Dorothea Lange: Grab a Hunk of Lightning Friday, August 29

View more than six decades of 20th century America through the prism of Lange's life and lens. Known for her powerful images from the Great Depression, her haunting "Migrant Mother" remains emblematic of that period. As young America matured into a world power, Lange continued to bear witness, bringing subjects alive, transmitting raw emotions and capturing the human condition. This film is made by Dyanna Taylor, Lange's granddaughter, who began her artistic vision, literally, at Lange's feet.

TIME SCANNERS

Using the latest technology, explore architectural masterpieces in a completely new light!

Three Part Series Airing Tuesdays, July 1-15, 7pm-8pm

With cutting-edge technology that can “read” buildings, ruins and landscapes from ancient worlds, TIME SCANNERS, a three-part series premiering July 1, reveals physical and forensic history, allowing viewers to reach out and Touch the past. Paving the way for an exciting new approach to documentary filmmaking, new laser technology explores the world’s most iconic sites in a way never before seen, surprising even the experts.

Steve Burrows, one of the world’s foremost structural engineers - and the brains behind the famous Bird’s Nest Stadium in Beijing - leads a team of investigators, including pioneering laser-scanning researchers, to unlock the secrets of the world’s greatest engineering achievements. Hosted by Dallas Campbell (“Bang Goes the Theory”), each episode provides unprecedented answers to the scientific secrets behind the historical landmarks.

TIME SCANNERS premieres with “Egyptian Pyramids” on July 1. The team travels to Egypt to scan the pyramids — the tombs of the mighty pharaohs — to find out how the necropolises evolved from simple mud-brick structures to the most impressive buildings in the ancient world. They use their laser technology to scan Djoser’s Step Pyramid at Saqqara, Meidum’s collapsed pyramid, the mysterious Bent Pyramid at Dashur and the famous Great Pyramid at Giza, and finally establish the true location of the King’s Burial Chamber in the Great Pyramid.

On July 8, Burrows takes his team of experts to “St Paul’s Cathedral” in London, famed as the location of the marriage of Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer. They venture inside the majestic dome to explore its groundbreaking three-part structure; determine how the cathedral’s architect, Sir Christopher Wren, overcame unstable foundations and immense structural forces to support his dome; and investigate how the cathedral survived a direct hit by a German bomb during the London Blitz. The laser scans produce genuine revelations and give the team new insight into this iconic architectural masterpiece.

The final installment “Petra” premieres on July 15 with the team of laser-scanning experts venturing to Jordan to scan the ancient desert city of Petra. Using 3D laser-scanning technology, Burrows wants to uncover the city’s construction secrets and shed new light on this architectural wonderland lost to the West for more than 1,000 years. How did Nabatean stonemasons carve Petra’s largest building – the Monastery – out of a mountainside? And what lies hidden underneath the city?

MORE REAL LIFE MYSTERIES...

At 8pm on Tuesdays, July 1 - 22, stay tuned for HISTORY DETECTIVES SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS (HDSI) as it delves into the past to explore some of America’s most intriguing mysteries. In each of four episodes, veteran detectives Tukufu Zuberi and Wes Cowan join forces with new host Kaiama Glover to prove a single iconic mystery from America’s past.
