Dear Friends,

It's been an interesting start to the year, to say the least, and as I reflect on my move back to the Pacific Northwest and becoming part of the KBTC family, I think about the change that we've all experienced during the first couple months of 2017. Huge shifts have occurred, from how we think to how we interact with the people around us to how we see the world.

Keeping up on the news of the day seems more urgent, yet we're seeing substance being replaced by sensationalism and credible reporting being eclipsed by shock journalism. If you're like me, you might find yourself feeling a bit overwhelmed as the media landscape alters, but the good news is there's always one place you can count on to offer you an uncluttered, unbiased, and honest window on the world – KBTC.

As a viewer and supporter, you already know you can trust the programs you watch on KBTC and those you stream on demand from our website, kbtc.org. What you may not know is that you are in good company. More than 95 million people in the country watch their local public television station each month. And for thirteen consecutive years PBS has been rated the most trustworthy institution among nationally known organizations.

It's our privilege to partner with you in this tradition of excellence and we will continue, unwaveringly, to bring you, your family, and your neighbors the very best of children's programs, science, nature, the arts, local news and more. It is, after all, our mission and our pledge to you.

We invite you to enjoy all of our offerings this month, including Northwest Now's look at Open Government and our celebration of Women's History Month with programs including Shipping Out: The Story of America's Seafaring Women and Soldier On: Life after Deployment. Have fun watching a night of comics – Super Heroes: A Never-Ending Battle and Cosplay: Crafting A Secret Identity or settle in for the return of Roy Orbison: Black & White Night 30. Enjoy!

THANK YOU FOR YOUR TRUST.

Everyday PBS and KBTC, your local public television station, tell smart, engaging stories that invite people from every walk of life to explore new places, new ideas and new experiences - all of which have inspired the American public to name PBS the country's most trusted public institution for 13 consecutive years.

We're committed to continuing to provide you with:

- The latest scientific discoveries and advances
- Access to diverse perspectives through our NHK and MHz channels
- Community partnerships that support families and provide opportunities for all children
- A safe place for children to watch television
- Weekly in-depth public affairs coverage around issues in our community on Northwest Now
- Engaging stories that bring history to life and spark your curiosity to learn more

"Just like our travels, PBS has given us a broader view of the world."

Shella and Larry Haney believe that public television gives everyone the chance to explore new worlds. They feel it's important to help keep public television available for future generations. That's why they've included their PBS station in their will.

•• Globe Trekker: Tough Trains: India's
Independence Railroads | Tue., March 28, 9 p.m.

Take an epic journey across one of the world's biggest railway networks. These railroads were built during the 19th century by the British to move troops and raw materials across the land, and ultimately played a role in the independence of India a century later. Ride the tracks and see the country and its people.
