Nova #4507 – Decoding the Weather Machine

Program Source: PBS

Wednesday, April 18, 2018

8pm – 1 hour, 56 minutes

Thursday, April 19, 2018

2pm – 1 hour, 56 minutes

DETAILS: Join scientists on a quest to better understand the weather and climate machine we call Earth. Why do scientists overwhelmingly agree that our climate is changing, and how can we be resilient-even thrive-in the face of enormous change?

High Tide in Dorchester

Program Source: Maryland Public Television

Sunday, April 22, 2018

3pm –56 minutes

DETAILS: High Tide in Dorchester aims to create a conversation about climate change, along with related impacts of sea level rise and erosion, and leverage that conversation into action. Locations around the country already have growing concerns for the future that increasingly faces coastal areas worldwide, including Dorchester County, MD. This low-lying county on the Eastern Shore of the Chesapeake Bay is the fourth largest of Maryland's 23 counties by land area, but it is destined to drop to the 14th largest by 2100 - or sooner - as waters rise and erosion worsens. Dorchester is fast becoming the coal miner's canary; ground zero for the Chesapeake Region. High Tide in Dorchester is a wake-up call: It's time for a retreat from the shoreline, of which the Chesapeake estuary has some 11,000 miles. Rising seas also threaten many species of waterfowl and other birds that nest in these extensive wetlands. It is imperative that we give our wetlands space to migrate upland as they are flooded in the lowlands.

Chesapeake Bay Summit

Program Source: Maryland Public Television

Thursday, April 26, 2018

8pm –56 minutes

Friday, April 27, 2018

2pm – 56 minutes

DETAILS: Host Frank Sesno once again drives a compelling conversation in this one-hour forum that will delve into the polarizing subjects of Climate Change and Sea Level Rise. Is Climate Change real? Or as some believe, is it merely a hoax perpetrated on the public by scientists and foreign governments? If it is real, what is the evidence and what will be the short and long-term impacts?

Monday, May 28, 2018

9pm – 56 minutes

Tuesday, May 29, 2018

3pm – 56 minutes

DETAILS: What is it really like to go to war? For millennia, only warriors could really answer that question. This documentary takes us inside the experience of battle and reveals the soldier's experiences as never before. War is the ultimate paradox. Filled with terror, pain and grief, it also brings exhilaration, and a profound sense of purpose. Going to War helps us make sense of this paradox and get to the heart of what it's like to be a soldier in times of war. The film illuminates the experiences of training, battle, and coming home for soldiers across conflicts, revealing the universals of the warrior's journey. Leading our exploration are Sebastian Junger, bestselling author and director of the Academy Award-nominated film Restrepo, and Karl Marlantes, decorated Marine officer and author of the bestselling novel Matterhorn and the fearless memoir What It is Like to Go to War. Both men bring firsthand experience, hard-won wisdom, and an abiding commitment to telling the warrior's story with insight and unflinching candor.
