Eyes on IPAWS is a situational awareness tool that provides emergency managers full access to all Wireless Emergency Alerts (WEAs) in real-time.

Sourced directly from FEMA's Integrated Public Alert and Warning System (IPAWS), the alerts are delivered over broadcast airwaves by local PBS member stations and are not subject to network congestion or typical outages.
PBS & Public Safety

PBS and local public television stations partner with public safety agencies across the country to make our communities safer. PBS has operated PBS WARN, the federally mandated over-the-air backup to the Wireless Emergency Alert System, since 2013.

PBS leverages its nationwide reach, reliability of broadcasting, and its role as America’s most trusted institution to advance our mission of public service.
