

VOLUNTEER BULLETIN

November 2018

Volunteers Do It All!

Thanks go to all the RMPBS and KUVU volunteers for their service. Early each month, the Volunteer Bulletin arrives by email and is also posted at www.rmpbs.org/volunteer. It delivers news, volunteer opportunities and volunteer appreciation. We welcome your comments, feedback and ideas. Email us at susanbarber@rmpbs.org.

Note: Rocky Mountain PBS often uses volunteer photos online, on TV, and on our social media sites to help show the positive impact our volunteers have in the community and how important they are to Rocky Mountain PBS. If you do not want any photos of yourself shared or used, contact Susan Ewing Barber.

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

DENVER (RMPBS & KUVU)

ATTENTION ALL KUVU & RMPBS Volunteers!!! We Need Your Help! Recently, the Federal Communications Commission determined that nearly 1000 TV stations across the country must change frequencies to make room for the internet carriers. Rocky Mountain PBS, and our viewers who watch our programming via antenna, will potentially be impacted.

As we prepare for this we intend to staff a phone bank to field call from viewers who have questions or require assistance about how to re-scan their television sets. Volunteers who staff the phone banks will have a script and instructions to follow. We have been given the transition window of December 1-21 and may not have a specific date until closer to that window, but we are asking for volunteers who would be interested in staffing the phone bank. At this time, we need volunteers to contact us NOW to indicate availability and interest in helping us out. Please email Susan Barber susanbarber@rmpbs.org to indicate your availability on weekends (morning, afternoon, evenings) and weekdays (morning, afternoon, evenings) during that December window (1-21).

As the date draws nearer and as RMPBS has a clearer picture of when the transition will occur, we will be directly in touch with volunteers regarding available shifts. Thank you in advance for your help!

KUVO Front Desk Subs

Volunteers needed for on call basis to cover the front desk at KUVO JAZZ Public Radio located in the Five Points Media Center (29th and Welton). Office hours are Mon – Fri, 9am to 5pm Front desk shifts are: 9am to 12:30pm or 1pm to 5pm. If you are interested in helping out, please contact Arvida Rascon arvida@kuvo.org and you will be put on a list and will receive notice by email when a sub is needed.

Volunteers to Assist with RMPBS Leadership Giving Mailing

Have fun working with other volunteers to get out a very important mailing(!), the Leadership Giving Monthly Renewal Series Mailing. We need you on December 1 at 1:00 pm at the Bannock Street Station (1089 Bannock Street). Free parking is available in the lot adjacent to the station. If you can assist (and we hope you will), please contact Talia Fischer at taliafischer@rmpbs.org .

Production Preservation

Help us preserve our local programs for future generations.

The volunteer Production Preservation team of Station's Archived Memories (SAM) needs your help in preserving our most memorable historic tapes to DVD. All necessary equipment, supplies and training will be provided. The transfers are done at the Rocky Mountain PBS (Denver) studios during business hours. Once trained and comfortable with the position, your schedule can be flexible. This is an ongoing opportunity for 4 hours weekly. Interested? Please contact Susan Barber, Volunteer Coordinator, at susanbarber@rmpbs.org

Interviewers Needed for Station's Archived Memories (SAM)

By Laura Sampson, co-chair, Oral History

Station's Archived Memories (SAM) is a volunteer-driven group preserving the history of Rocky Mountain Public Media.

There are so many people with great stories to share that SAM needs more volunteers interested in conducting Oral History interviews. Current and former staff and volunteers of Rocky Mountain Public Media -- including Rocky Mountain PBS, KUVO, Tim Gill Center and the Western Slope -- are being interviewed to document the personal anecdotes of Rocky Mountain Public Media. If you are curious about people, curious about public media, enjoy asking questions AND listening to answers, please consider becoming an Oral History interviewer. Although it's helpful to be somewhat familiar with the history of Rocky Mountain Public Media, it is certainly not mandatory. The archives provide plenty of excellent documentation to research and prepare for interviews. Along with the archives, thorough procedure materials plus hands-on training are provided by experienced Oral History volunteers.

If you are interested in learning more about the volunteer job as an Oral History Interviewer, please contact Rocky Mountain PBS Volunteer Coordinator, Susan Barber, susanbarber@rmpbs.org

Station's Archived Memories (SAM): Memorabilia Volunteers

- General Memorabilia volunteers (3-4) are needed to review the existing Station's Archived Memories (SAM) Memorabilia Database containing approximately 4,000 historic artifacts related to the history of Rocky Mountain Public Media.
- Examples of Memorabilia include (but are not limited to): mugs, clothing, pens, pins, documents, invitations, posters and other 3-dimensional items as deemed appropriate for the Rocky Mountain Public Media archives.

Volunteer qualifications for Memorabilia Database Maintenance

- Commit to a minimum of 4 hours per week for 6 months or more.
- Volunteer experience with SAM is a bonus, but not mandatory.
- Available to volunteer at Rocky Mountain Public Media (Denver) during business hours. (Specific days to be determined by the volunteers)
- Must have strong organizational skills with a keen eye for detail.
- Must have strong computer skills and familiarity with databases.
- Duties include reviewing data in the existing Memorabilia database for accuracy including item details and follow-up actions that are required.
- Job requires some physical strength. Volunteers must be physically able to lift and move storage boxes containing memorabilia artifacts.
- Experienced SAM volunteers will provide thorough training materials for the job.

VIRTUAL VOLUNTEERING

What does “Virtual Volunteering” mean? It means volunteering from your home (or other) with your computer on your time from anywhere in the state. These opportunities provide individuals who may not be available during the day to support Rocky Mountain PBS and/or KUVU through volunteering. (However, if you would like to volunteer and come into the station, that is certainly possible.) In this next year, we look forward to developing these opportunities further.

1. Volunteers for Station’s Archived Memories (SAM) From Your Own Home

By Laura Sampson, co-chair, Oral History

Would you prefer to volunteer for Rocky Mountain Public Media from the comfort of your own home at a time that is personally convenient for you? Transcribing Oral History Interviews for Station’s Archived Memories (SAM) would be the ideal volunteer job for you. The captivating interviews average 55 minutes in length and the audio file can be downloaded directly to your home computer. The interviews provide insight to fascinating institutional, community and individual histories. Interviews offer a unique perspective of memorable moments in the history of Rocky Mountain Public Media as well as an inside look into current and past “everyday life” at a public broadcasting station.

VOLUNTEER REQUIREMENTS:

Volunteer transcribers must have a Word program and a current computer capable of playing electronic audio files. An Oral History transcriber must have strong computer skills, knowledge of how to create Word documents and access to email. Additionally, a volunteer transcriber must have excellent listening skills, including the ability to type audio conversation word-for-word. Schedules and time commitment will vary with individual transcribers. Thorough and detailed training is provided.

If you are interested in applying for the position as an Oral History transcriber, please contact Rocky Mountain PBS Volunteer Coordinator, Susan Barber, susanbarber@rmpbs.org

SOUTHERN COLORADO

- KRMJ has a multitude of other fun opportunities for volunteers, including support in Special Events, Community Outreach, Community Calendar, Community Screenings, and Office Assistance. If you are interested in these or any other volunteer opportunities, please contact Hillary Daniels at hillarydaniels@mpbs.org .

VOLUNTEER APPRECIATION

Thanks to Volunteers in Denver at RMPBS & KUVU

A very successful Fall Membership Drive ended last week at KUVU. Thanks to the tireless work of the entire KUVU staff and Membership Team, $105,000 was raised and more than 250 new and upgrading “Jazz Messengers!” stepped up to support community, culture, and music. It was a true team effort of on-air hosts, engineering, membership and development, and community partners - pitch partners, phone volunteers and restaurants!

THANK YOU KUVU VOLUNTEERS – YOU “MADE IT COUNT!”

KUVU is incredibly THANKSFUL to all our volunteers that helped make our 2018 Fall Membership Drive a huge success! They worked extra shifts, they provided home-cooked meals or purchased meals for the phone bank volunteers and staff... They “Made It Count!”

Many thanks to Betty Flaten, Lisa Avila, and Trisha Gonya for greeting families at October's Alamo Draffhouse PBS KIDS screenings. We appreciate these volunteers taking time from their Saturdays to be station ambassadors.

Thanks to Betty Flaten, Judy Lester-Smith, Michael Torline, Sharon Schonhaut and Teddi Wiest Kent for their assistance with the Fall Preview event at the Bannock Street station on October 2nd. Members enjoyed viewing the teasers for upcoming local programs and talking with the producers. Members were thrilled to be invited and treated to the wonderful food and libations. The flowers looked great, the beers were cool from the ice and the Leadership Giving Team felt supported by the wonderful volunteers.

Resounding applause is extended to SAM volunteers for their ongoing year-round preservation efforts to meticulously archive station photographs, memorabilia, productions, documents and oral histories.

Thanks to Volunteers in Colorado Springs

Thank you to the volunteers who helped us with the "Colorado Experience: Fannie Mae Duncan" screening: Kay Davis, Cheryl Blanton-Chisholm, Larissa Carbine and Sean Anglum, as well as all RMPBS staff who showed up to help with this event."

Thanks to Volunteers in Grand Junction

Grand Junction—election debate--- It takes an army to produce live remote television. In addition to debate moderators John Ferrugia, CMU adjunct Denny Herzog, and The Sentinel reporter Charles Ashby, CMU provided 16 people (including professor Greg Mikolai, who led the control room crew of seven students). Two staff members from Open Media Foundation were on hand to provide live internet streaming, and RMPBS had 10 staff on site that night, plus a host of volunteers. Thank you to volunteers Chriss Secrest and Brenda St. John, for being such rock stars at the debate! They helped usher people in and showed them where to seat. They always kept a smile on their face. We are so blessed to have such an amazing volunteers!

Thank you to our volunteer here in Grand Junction. His name is Richard Goben. Our free library at Las Colonias, had a cracked plexiglass so I asked Richard if he would fix it for us. Not only did he fix it, but he donated the plexiglass that he used to fix our little library.

Volunteer Reminder: Volunteers: Please note that if you sign in on the computer at the Denver station or the KUVU station but don't sign out, the computer only gives you credit for 3 hours. Not only do you cheat yourselves out of time, but the station also. Please send an e-mail to judyestersmith@rmpbs.org if you need to make a correction to your hours. In the email, include the date, time, and job assignment and we will make the adjustment. Thank you!

VOLUNTEER & STATION NEWS

Results of The Great American Read Unveiled!

To Kill a Mockingbird was voted by viewers as America's #1 best-loved novel in The Great American Read. <https://www.pbs.org/the-great-american-read/results/>

One of the best-loved stories of all time, To Kill a Mockingbird has been translated into more than forty languages, sold more than forty million copies worldwide, served as the basis for an enormously popular motion picture, and voted one of the best novels of the twentieth century by librarians across the country.

To Kill a Mockingbird led The Great American Read voting from the first week and kept the lead for the entire five months of voting, despite strong competition from the rest of our five finalists. It also topped the list of votes in every state except North Carolina (who went for Outlander) and Wyoming (who preferred Lord of The Rings). Such widespread support from readers across the country make To Kill a Mockingbird a worthy winner of The Great American Read.

In addition to To Kill a Mockingbird: Outlander (Series) came in at #2; Harry Potter (Series) came in at #3; Pride and Prejudice came in as # 4; and Lord of the Rings came in at #5.

Calling volunteers and staff at RMPBS (Denver) and KUVU: Submit your nomination for the annual "From the Heart" awards!

Calling on volunteers and staff at the RMPBS (Denver) station and KUVU to nominate a very special volunteer and/or a special Denver staff member—those folks whom you have observed giving exceptional and cheerful service to the Rocky Mountain PBS and KUVU community. They exceed expectations and often work quietly out of the limelight. You may see these people, perhaps on a daily basis or maybe during a special event or project working quietly and efficiently with no thought of reward or accolade.

The nomination deadline is Monday, January 18, 2019. The nominations need not be elegantly written, just heartfelt. You will be reminded again in early January of the deadline. However, we'd appreciate your submitting nominations early while the idea is in your mind. The brief and simple nomination form is available online at www.rmpbs.org/heart or contact Susan Barber at susanbarber@rmpbs.org. Past recipients are listed below. While these individuals are no longer eligible for consideration, please use them as an example of what behavior exemplifies "From the Heart".

Mark your calendars for Thursday, February 14, 2019 and join in celebrating the 23rd consecutive year of honoring volunteers and staff members who have given unselfishly of time and energy to support Rocky Mountain PBS (Denver) or KUVU. The awards are scheduled to be presented in the Teleconference room at the Denver RMPBS station, 1089 Bannock Street on Wednesday, February 14, 2018 from 3–4pm. Volunteers and staff are invited to attend. We will be serving cake, punch and seasonal goodies. Please RSVP to Susan Barber susanbarber@rmpbs.org.

Welcome to High School Intern Martir Guardado

We are so happy to welcome Martir Guardado at Rocky Mountain PBS. He is 14 years old and a freshman at Arrupe Jesuit High School.

Arrupe Jesuit High School (grades 9-12) is located in Denver and presents a unique approach to education. Approximately 435 students are enrolled at the school. Arrupe offers students the opportunity to build a future that otherwise might be impossible. Their unique Corporate Work Study Program allows students to pursue their educational dreams while learning about the corporate community where they will one day work. Students work one day per week at over 130 area businesses.

Martir will be at RMPBS for one school year. For his freshman and sophomore years, the school chooses his work placement. In his junior and senior years, he will have the opportunity to choose. He has three siblings: Erika, 15 years old (she also attends Arrupe); Gesil, 2 years old; and Matteo, 3 months old. Outside of school, Martir enjoys playing basketball or taking the bus to different places and video games.

Martir is in the human resources office on Thursdays at the Bannock Street station. We encourage volunteers and staff to stop by and say hello. Thanks go to Martir for his work at RMPBS!

Rocky Mountain Public Media—Station News

Listening Tour- Rocky Mountain Public Media is hosting a series of targeted and intimate community conversations throughout Colorado, with one simple goal: to learn how we can foster and strengthen community through public media. The first one took place in Colorado Springs; the tour will make its way to Grand Junction on October 24th, and then wrap up in Denver on October 25th. Durango, Fort Collins, and Pueblo community conversations will occur in early Spring 2019. An employee version of the listening tour will occur during the November staff meeting.

Shout out to our Content Teams! In addition to cranking out phenomenal broadcast work, the culture and journalism content teams have also been curating content SPECIFICALLY for social platforms. These short videos are brilliant examples of how we can tell stories in short, engaging formats AND support our broadcast product. The top 2 best performing posts we've had in over a month: Colorado Experience's "Growler" explainer video (5.4K people reached, 1.1K engagements (likes/comments/shares/clicks) and 5.8K views) and Arts District's New Season video (7.4K people reached, 1.7K engagements and 3.4K views).

Ode to KUVO from a Grateful Listener

Dear KUVO,

I have been listening to KUVO for a few years and only now am able to join as a member. I feel I know some of you from listening so long. I listen to KUVO every day including Sunday's. I look forward to meeting all of you on the 25th. In appreciation for what all of you have created and maintain I wrote this simple poem for all of you and all who donate to keep KUVO on the air.

Kuvo Kuvo

I've fallen in Love
in this beautiful relation

You teach me culture
you teach me community and through your music
you promote unity

Living with Kuvo everyday educates and informs me in a special way

Thank you Kuvo
I Love you so and All who make Kuvo grow

THIS MONTH IN THE HISTORY OF ROCKY MOUNTAIN PUBLIC MEDIA

By Laura Sampson | Founder and Marketing Chair, Station's Archived Memories (SAM)

SOMETIMES YOU JUST FEEL LIKE DANCING

Singing and Dancing on KRMA
INSIGHT: a 1970s local production

Date: November 5, 1970

Location: KRMA, Channel Six, studios at 1261 Glenarm (Denver)

Top: Musicians, Bobbie Kay and Mike Hogan; unidentified square dancers

On November 5, 1970, public television viewers were brought to their feet with a rousing performance aired on KRMA's very popular local production, INSIGHT. The weekly program was a half-hour "magazine of the arts" that featured creative arts, talented professionals in discussion and performances on the local, regional and national scenes.

One of INSIGHT's most popular 1970 segments was devoted entirely to country music which elicited such a strong response from its initial broadcast that the performers were invited to return to the Channel Six studios for a repeat "command performance." Rocky Mountain News TV Dial dated November 1 (1970) even devoted a 2-page article announcing the repeat program to alert viewers that they could enjoy another presentation of the lively program. The article promoting the program stated, ". . . even nonlovers of Country Music can enjoy it."

On November 5, 1970, KRMA brought its viewers back to their feet with a stirring musical performance performed live at the Channel Six studios at 1261 Glenarm. The band, The Supply House, featured its highly talented lead singer, Brenda Richardson, who was joined by musicians, Bobbie Kay and Mike Hogan.

The country western musicians were also joined by the remarkable voice of a 17-year old local singer, Lyn Renaud. Foot-stomping was strongly encouraged by the lively square dancers from six remarkably talented Denver square dance clubs as they were accompanied by the unique talent of Colorado's foremost square-dance caller, Don Franklin, rated 3rd best caller in the entire nation.

GOOD MUSIC DOESN'T HAVE AN

Thanks to the belief of both staff and volunteers in the value of preserving the history of Rocky Mountain Public Media, you do not have to imagine the look of the musicians and dancers that appeared in the Channel Six studios over 40 years ago. The archives can present you with archived photographs taken during the actual taping of this trendy 1970 program. The music of the station's history can come alive for you through the archives.

Resounding applause is extended to SAM volunteers for their ongoing year-round preservation efforts to meticulously archive station photographs, memorabilia, productions, documents and oral histories.

If you would like to be a volunteer or donate to the Station's Archived Memories (SAM) project, please contact the Rocky Mountain PBS Volunteer Coordinator, Susan Barber, susanbarber@rmpbs.org.

General Volunteer Information

Volunteers play a critical role at Rocky Mountain Public Media for both RMPBS and KUVO. The Rocky Mountain Public Media volunteer corps donates (on average) 18,000+ hours per year. Volunteers expand the capacity of the organization in order to enhance the public outreach and sustain viewer support of the mission-- to inspire people to engage in deeper, more meaningful ways with the world around them. Volunteers enjoy the opportunity to work together supporting and leading station initiatives.

We hope that you might consider donating your time and talent to Rocky Mountain Public Media (RMPBS & KUVO). We have a variety of volunteer opportunities and new opportunities are constantly popping up. The best way to learn about these is to sign up in our database or contact volunteer coordinator, Susan Barber (susanbarber@rmpbs.org) at RMPBS or Arvida Rascon, KUVO at arvida@kuvo.org. To sign up in the database, go to www.rmpbs.org/volunteer and click on "Sign Up to Volunteer." If you are in our database, you will receive monthly updates on volunteer news and opportunities. Below is a list of some of the many opportunities available:

RMPBS

Station Tours: RMPBS is a PUBLIC broadcasting station and we invite the public into the station at any opportunity! This is a very important piece of community outreach. We rely on our volunteer tour guides. Tours are done primarily during the day/business hours (but we also provide occasional weekday evening tours). It's great fun and training is provided.

Front Desk: Answer phones and greet visitors at Denver station

On-Call Volunteers: Sign up to be on our on-call list for a variety of short-notice, immediate jobs from mailings, to button making, to data input, "faux" phone banks and many more!

Photographers: If you enjoy taking pictures and you are pretty good, sign up to be a photographer! We take pictures of everything!!!

Station's Archived Memories (SAM): Help keep the history of Rocky Mountain PBS alive. A nationally recognized volunteer-driven project, Station's Archived memories welcomes volunteers interested in preserving photographs, memorabilia, oral histories, local productions and station documents related to Rocky Mountain PBS. Archive training provided, but computer skills mandatory. Work is done during weekday business hours at Rocky Mountain PBS. 303-620-5734 or SAM@rmpbs.org

Newsletter: Write articles, coordinate newsletters that include the monthly Volunteer Bulletin

Community Outreach: Perfect opportunity to work with friends on weekdays, weekends or evenings for screenings, staffing booths at community events (including jazz events and the like).

Volunteer Recruitment: Call your friends and build our volunteer corps by reaching out to your network ---your friends and colleagues.

Volunteer Leadership: Develop and enhance your leadership skills. Opportunities abound to really make a significant impact by taking leadership roles in new and current station initiatives and on the RMPBS Volunteer Advisory Team!

Special Events: Big and small events---many different jobs!
