9 Spotlight On

Ellie Lenhart

On our cover THE DUST BOWL

"Ken Burns and Dayton Duncan give us a gripping drama of people pitted against horrific storms, never-before-experienced, then or now," said Paula Kerger, President and CEO, PBS. "It is eloquently and movingly told through the stories and oral histories of those who lived to tell the tale of that tragic time. We're very proud to capture the first-hand testimonies of these survivors, many of whom are in their late 70s and 80s, and who are making an important contribution to our nation's history and furthering our understanding of this time and its implications for the future. Feature story on p.22

Why save PBS?

"I'm going to stop the subsidy to PBS. I'm going to stop other things. I like PBS, I love Big Bird. Actually, [I] like you [moderator Jim Lehrer], too. But I'm not going to keep on spending money on things to borrow money from China to pay for."

Governor Romney, 1st Presidential debate, Oct. 3, 2012

Social media is a powerful force. When Governor Romney made the above statement, it sparked a firestorm of support for PBS on Twitter. The words "Big Bird" were tweeted 17,000 times a minute and "PBS" peaked at 10,000 tweets per minute. One of the Twitter handles, "@FiredBigBird," garnered 2000 followers in two minutes. One hour after the debate, that handle had 16,000 followers (ABC News).

Filmmaker Ken Burns

In an interview with USA Today, filmmaker Ken Burns said, "...the response goes beyond Sesame Street. It resonates because the American people understand that we have a debt not because of public television; we have a debt to public television."

The Cost of PBS

OK, so what are the facts? Let's look at the impact of PBS funding on the budget? How much does it cost the American taxpayer?

The simple fact is, the federal investment in public broadcasting equals about one one-hundredth of one percent of the federal budget. That's about $1.35 per person per year.

Elimination of funding would have virtually no impact on the nation's debt.

"With the enormous problems facing our country, the fact that we are the focus is just unbelievable to me," commented PBS President & CEO Paula Kerger in an interview with CNN. "Particularly given the fact that at another part of the (1st Presidential) debate, both candidates focused on the importance of education. We're America's biggest classroom."

The Value of PBS

PBS serves as a universally accessible resource for education, history, science, arts and civil discourse. Over the course of a year, 91% of all U.S. television households tune into their local PBS station. PBS is watched by 81% of all children between the ages of 2-8. Earlier in 2012, a Harris Interactive poll confirmed that Americans consider PBS the most trusted public institution and the second most valuable use of public funds, behind only national defense, for the 9th consecutive year.

A key thing to remember is that public television and radio stations are locally owned and community focused and they are experts in working efficiently to make limited resources produce results. It is a highly effective public-private partnership.

Numerous studies -- including one requested by Congress earlier this year -- have stated categorically that while the federal investment in public broadcasting is relatively modest, the absence of this critical seed money would cripple the system and bring its services to an end.

Make Your Voice Heard

"We are the only media entity charged with serving the American people, not selling to them," Paula Kerger said in a recent memo to the PBS stations. "We must work now to preserve and protect that mission."

If you agree with Paula, if you value PBS and WCTE, go to valuePBS.org for information, contact your congressman and, if you haven't done so already, voice your support for Public Broadcasting at 170millionamericans.com.

[C] COMMUNITY CINEMA

The groundbreaking program comes to Cookeville.

Community Cinema is a groundbreaking public education and civic engagement initiative featuring monthly screenings of films from the Emmy Award-winning PBS series Independent Lens. Every month between September and June, Community Cinema brings together leading organizations, community members and public television stations to learn, discuss and get involved in today's critical social issues.

"These are films from Independent Lens that PBS has made available to us for preview," said WCTE's Education and Community Engagement Associate Reggie Brown. "We hope to raise awareness and engage our communities in discussion about these vital issues."

ITVS Regional Outreach Coordinator Allison Inman is excited about offering Community Cinema in her hometown of Cookeville.

"I've worked on Community Cinema for seven years, mostly in Nashville but first in Denver and New Orleans. To see a program that I love so deeply, and that's taught me so much, happening in Cookeville? It's wonderful. I consider Community Cinema screenings to be town hall meetings. No matter what a film is about or where it takes place, you'll find a similar local story."

Join the next film and discussion. Mark your calendar for future films. We'd love to see you there!

SOLAR MAMAS

by Mona Eldaief and Jehane Noujaim

Welcome to India's Barefoot College, founded by Bunker Roy to provide rural women living in poverty with an education that empowers them to make their communities self-reliant and sustainable. Rafea — a 30-year-old Jordanian mother of four — is traveling outside of her village for the first time to attend Barefoot's solar engineering program. Once there, she will join women like her from Guatemala, Kenya, Burkina Faso, and Colombia to learn concrete skills to change their communities.

SOUL FOOD JUNKIES

by Byron Hurt

Soul food lies at the heart of African American cultural identity. The black community's love affair with soul food is deep-rooted, complex, and in some cases, deadly. Soul Food Junkies puts this culinary tradition under the microscope to examine both its significance and its consequences.

LOVE FREE OR DIE

by Macky Alston

Love Free or Die is about a man whose two defining passions the world cannot reconcile: his love for God and for his partner Mark. The film is about church and state, love and marriage, faith and identity — and openly gay Bishop Eugene Robinson's struggle to dispel the notion that God's love has limits.

Art and Artists Energize Cookeville during ART Prowl 2012

Walking tour of studios, galleries Friday, Nov. 9, 12-8PM
and Saturday, Nov. 10, 10AM – 6PM

For two days, Cookeville's downtown neighborhoods will be bursting with local art and artists during the 11th annual ART Prowl studio and gallery tour. The free event showcases over 30 established and emerging local artists sharing their work in all media - painting, photography, clay, jewelry, metal, fiber, sculpture, wood and mixed media - in Cookeville's WestSide district, with additional locations in the central downtown area. This year's tour features a wide variety of artists who are new to ART Prowl, although certainly not new to art!

Expect artist exhibits, demonstrations and kids' activities in galleries, studios and other art-friendly locations. Once again this year we are proud to present "Does this ART Make My House Look PHAT?" - a light-hearted look at the art experience from the point of view of local collectors and retailers. Also back are Passports to ART, available at the Welcome Center.

The Welcome Center, hosted by Sweet Sallie's Café and Bakery on North Oak Street, will house the works of several artists. On the WestSide, artists are exhibiting in the neighborhoods of upper and lower West Broad as well as North and South Cedar. Walnut Street hosts several stops this year, and there is also a perfect loop through neighborhoods from Washington to E Broad. Total tour distance: 1.4 miles from east to west.

New stops this year: Cumberland Art Society and Dream Catcher Arts on S. Walnut, Peachtree Learning Center on N. Walnut, and Fox Leaf Bookstore on West Broad.

Visit artprowl.com for artist biographies, photos and a tour map, and more.

ART Prowl is an affiliated activity of the non-profit group Art 'Round Tennessee and is funded by the Cookeville Arts Council local patrons and the artists.

Ramola Drost

Thank You Ramola!

With sad hearts we bid farewell to artist, devoted mother and great friend to WCTE, Ramola Drost. Ramola passed away in mid- October.

WCTE was one of Ramola's favorite causes and for over 26 years, she volunteered at the Art Board at the Great TV Auction. In 2011, Ramola was escorted onto the Auction stage and in front of the TV cameras as the WCTE staff and Auction volunteers sang "Happy Birthday" and presented her with a cake for her 90th birthday.

"No, not 90," Ramola said. "I prefer to think of myself as 30... times 3."

Ramola Drost had a passion for art. She studied drafting at UT, taught art at TTU part time for 37 years and became involved with the Cumberland Art Society, where she also taught art. She and her husband Ray raised their family in Cookeville.

At 30... times 3... plus one, Ramola was still alert and engaging, with an indomitable spirit and a sweet smile.

We will miss that smile.

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to her son Alan and daughter Sally.

Ellie Lenhart

Ellie Lenhart

Ellie Lenhart grew up in Chesterfield County Virginia and went to Virginia Commonwealth University (B.S. Education, M.ED Administration) and William and Mary (Doctoral study). She met her husband Mike at a party two days before Christmas in 1988.

"We were each with a different set of friends. Luckily the only available seats put us side by side. That was a great Christmas for me!"

Mike, who is a cardiologist, and Ellie, who has her own interior design business (Lenhart Design Company), raised their family in Cookeville for 17 years.

"Mike and I have three great daughters. Kate is the oldest (21) and is a senior at Centre College in Danville, KY - the same school that recently hosted the Vice-Presidential Debate! Beccah (20) is a junior at Millsaps College in Jackson, MS. Annie is the youngest (17) and is a junior at Abingdon High School. In addition to these human family members, we have a Yorkie named Brutus and a Tuxedo cat named Aggy. They are probably more spoiled than the girls!"

Recently Mike, Ellie, Annie, Brutus and Aggy moved to Abingdon VA, about 17 miles north of Bristol TN. Ellie still travels back to Cookeville regularly on design business.

"There are many great things about Cookeville and the Upper Cumberland. I had the opportunity to meet and interact with many interesting, talented, and genuinely kind people. There are so many folks I miss seeing."

Ellie first found out about WCTE when she and her family moved to Cookeville 17 years ago.

"I have been a part of the Great TV Auction and was interviewed for a spot about living green for Live Green Tennessee. Additionally, I helped with the design of a new set and am currently helping with the design of new WCTE space downtown. Exciting!"

"Without WCTE there wouldn't be anything worth watching on television. OK, maybe that was an exaggeration, but the programs about our community and our state are excellent. I especially enjoy Tennessee Crossroads, Live Green Tennessee and I loved the documentary produced by Todd Jarrell – Tuba U: Basso Profundo."

"Having a public television station like WCTE is an amazing accomplishment for the Upper Cumberland. The station has grown, not only with the programs it produces but also in how it broadcasts, staying current and relevant. The Upper Cumberland is filled with folks who want to know what is going on in the community, the state, and the world. Public television provides that information in an interesting, accurate, and fresh format."

Investiture of the 9th President of Tennessee Technological University: Dr. Philip B. Oldham Saturday, November 10

Before & After the Golden Eagles take on the UT Martin Skyhawks (game begins 1:30PM)

Tennessee Tech University celebrates the investiture of Philip Oldham as the university's ninth president with a formal recognition of Oldham's acceptance of the responsibilities of office. The ceremony includes the bestowing of the title of office to Oldham by John Morgan, chancellor of the Tennessee Board of Regents. "This is an important event in the life of Tennessee Tech University – an opportunity for faculty, staff and students to come together and focus on our university, its accomplishments and its future," said Mark Stephens, provost and vice president for academic affairs. "The history and traditions of the institution and the aspirations for the future come together in an investiture of a new president."

PLUS see an interview with President Philip Oldham in One on One with Becky Magura, Thursday, November 15 @ 8:30PM.

Doo Wop Discoveries

Fri., Nov. 23, Sat., Nov. 24, Mon., Nov 26 & Tues., Nov. 27

Doo Wop Discoveries brings back pivotal R&B and pop vocal groups of the late 50s and 60s through never-before-broadcast archival and new live performances of their most loved hits. Pop music icons Smokey Robinson, Mike Stoller (of the writing team Lieber & Stoller), producers Mitch and Phil Margo of the Tokens, Aaron Neville, Neil Sedaka and more share their favorite doo wop styles and songs of the genre.

Muddy Waters and the Rolling Stones Live

Fri, Nov 23, Sat. Nov 24, Mon. Nov 26 & Thurs. Nov. 29

On November 22, 1981, the Rolling Stones arrived in Chicago prior to playing three nights at the Rosemont Horizon. Long influenced by the Chicago blues, the band paid a visit to see legendary bluesman Muddy Waters perform. It didn't take long before Mick Jagger, Keith Richards, Ronnie Wood and Ian Stewart were joining him on stage. Later, Buddy Guy, Junior Wells and Lefty Dizz also played their part.

SAVING THE TITANIC: The Remarkable Untold Story of the Men Who Tried to Save the Ship Tuesday, December 11 at 7 PM

She was the Pride of the British Empire and a leading example of state-of-the art engineering in a time of groundbreaking scientific and technological innovations on a global scale. Yet the RMS Titanic sank less than three hours after striking an iceberg on April 14, 1912. Everyone knows about the many deaths in the icy waters, the fates of the rich and famous on the ship's maiden voyage and the dramas that played out in the Titanic's last hours. What is less known is how a team of shipbuilders and engineers attempted to save the stricken vessel. One hundred years after the sinking of the vessel considered unsinkable, SAVING THE TITANIC is the untold story of self-sacrifice and dignity of the ship's engineers, stokers and firemen in the face of impending death.

...continue the story at 8 PM... The Titanic With Len Goodman

Join Len Goodman, a judge on "Dancing With the Stars," as he examines the 100-year legacy of the Titanic, exploring the human stories that unfolded in the years after the ship sank. He meets descendants of passengers and crew and hears how, for the families of many on board, the sinking was just the start of the story. He visits Belfast, the city where Titanic was built, and journeys to other towns left scarred by the tragedy.

THE DUST BOWL

A FILM BY KEN BURNS

PREMIERES NOVEMBER
18 AND 19 ON WCTE

THE DUST BOWL, a new two-part, four-hour documentary by Ken Burns, chronicles the environmental catastrophe that, throughout the 1930s, destroyed the farmlands of the Great Plains, turned prairies into deserts and unleashed a pattern of massive, deadly dust storms that for many seemed to herald the end of the world. It was the worst manmade ecological disaster in American history.

The film tells the story of the farming boom in the early 20th century that transformed the grassland of the southern plains into wheat fields. Once a drought hit in 1931, winds began picking up soil from the open fields and grew into dust storms of biblical proportions. Each year for nearly a decade, the storms grew more ferocious and more frequent, sweeping up millions of tons of earth, killing crops and livestock, threatening to turn the southern plains into a Sahara, even spreading the dust clear across the country. Children developed fatal “dust pneumonia,” business owners unable to cope with the financial ruin committed suicide and thousands of desperate Americans were torn from their homes and forced on the road in an exodus unlike anything the United States had ever seen.

THE DUST BOWL is also a story of heroic perseverance against enormous odds: families finding ways to survive and hold on to their land, national and local government programs that kept hungry families afloat and a partnership between government agencies and farmers to develop new farming and conservation methods.

A preview website for THE DUST BOWL is available at pbs.org/dustbowl and includes opportunities for users to share stories, background information on the film and filmmakers, and information on engagement activities, selections from scripts, video outtakes and transcripts from interviews, archival footage and photographs and music, as well as educational outreach materials and lesson plans that will enable teachers to use The Dust Bowl as a historical lens to explore changes affecting the environment today.

Fans can follow Ken Burns on Twitter @ KenBurns or on Facebook at Facebook.com/KenBurnsPBS. The Dust Bowl: An Illustrated History, written by Dayton Duncan with a preface by Ken Burns, will accompany the film.
