WCTE KID'S CLUB

Are Your Favorite Kids Members?

by Shannon Terry, Membership Coordinator

WCTE offers many levels of membership for many types of people. But there is one club, the most special, most awesome, most amazing—Kid's Club! WCTE's Kid's Club celebrates all things fun and awesome about PBS and being a kid while promoting reading and fun learning.

Kid's Club is designed especially for WCTE's most treasured viewers. Club members receive cool incentives throughout the year from WCTE like birthday shout-outs on air and online for the entire birthday month, fun birthday goodies like books and games and invitations to meet PBS characters in person.

For just $60 per year (or $5 per month) your Kid's Club membership also gives you access to the new PBS streaming service, Passport, which allows your family to enjoy WCTE & PBS programming anytime in a variety of ways. Also in the works is a 24-7 PBS kid's channel, which will be available to stream online and through the PBS KIDS Video App.

Being a kid and PBS go hand in hand. Chances are, your kids will also carry beloved characters and smart anecdotes from shows like Sesame Street and Bob the Builder into their adult lives from being exposed to WCTE and PBS at a young age. Become a Kid's Club member today and help support WCTE's tradition of providing the most trusted educational programming for all children.

Go online to wcte.org or contact me at the email and number below and sign up your favorite kids today!

The Fred Rogers Company Spotlights WCTE's Cindy Putman

This article has been reproduced with the permission of the Fred Rogers Company.*

In July, Cindy Putman, our Ready To Learn Project Manager, was spotlighted in an article by the Fred Rogers Company. The organization is dedicated to carrying on the work and building on the legacy of Mr. Rogers by "engaging new generations of children and families with his timeless wisdom."

You can find out more about the Fred Rogers Company and all the media resources they have to offer at fredrogers.org.

Cindy Putman began as a volunteer at her PBS station, WCTE Upper Cumberland PBS in Cookeville, TN. In 2000, she had the opportunity to be a part time education associate while still maintaining a full time career as an elementary school teacher. In 2014, she became project manager for Ready To Learn, a national initiative focused on early learning and school readiness.

"My classroom has grown from a class of 25 to a school district of over 11,000 students," Cindy said. "My days are spent working with teachers, parents, and children sharing the resources that PBS KIDS has created to help all children enter school Ready To Learn."

Cindy's most recent Ready To Learn project has been coordinating WCTE's Odd Squad Be The Agent Camp. Each day the students participate in problem-solving activities using math and reasoning skills. The Odd Squad campers receive a special problem-solving mission each day delivered by the head of Odd Squad, Ms. O.

"I love the show and how clever the characters are at engaging kids to learn new math skills," Cindy said. "I enjoy seeing students get excited about math, and hearing them say they were bad at math, but Odd Squad Camp helped them feel successful."

New York Life Grant Helping Students Find Career Paths

WCTE was recently awarded a $10,000 Community Impact Grant from New York Life. The grant will support a career exploration program for area 8th graders using the PBS Roadtrip Nation program and curriculum.

WCTE's Director of Education and Community Development, Dr. Hannah Rawiszer, will be working with three schools, and in one after-school session a month, using the ROADTRIP NATION Exploration curriculum, for a total of 8 sessions from October 2016 through April 2017.

Look for the WCTE Career Village booth at Stations of Imagination!

TED Talks Film: Education Revolution

WHEN:

Friday, September 16

TWO SCREENINGS:

12pm - 1:45pm & 5pm - 6:45pm

WHERE:

Putnam County Library

Hosted by WCTE's Dr. Hannah Rawiszer, each screening will be followed by a moderated discussion.

WCTE's GROWING EDUCATION Series, AMERICAN GRADUATE Day, FRONTLINE, POV, NOVA, TED TALKS and Special Reports from PBS NEWSHOUR are all featured in SPOTLIGHT EDUCATION WEEK

SPOTLIGHT EDUCATION

Sept 12 -17

"SPOTLIGHT EDUCATION highlights public media's focus on education and our role in convening conversations around how to improve outcomes for students," said Paula Kerger, President and CEO, PBS. "With special on-air programming and resources to support teachers, PBS and our local stations are committed to supporting education—at home, in the classroom and in communities."

"Public media is committed to providing Americans of all ages with educational content for free and commercial free," said Pat Harrison, President and CEO, the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. "Our Spotlight Education week affirms the importance of local stations working in partnership with more than 1,700 community and business organizations through the American Graduate Initiative to help young people move toward graduation and career success."

Short-form and full episodes from the week, interactive content modules and a social hub for SPOTLIGHT EDUCATION will be available on PBS.org and Americangraduate.org. In addition, previews, clips and full episodes will be available on the PBS apps for iOS and Android devices and via station-branded digital platforms. For updates on the programming, follow #SpotlightEduPBS and #amgrad on Twitter.

Also airing in September is WCTE's GROWING EDUCATION, an eight-part documentary series that focuses on education in Cookeville and Putnam County and how it connects to the economic development for the area. The series was produced over a fifteen month period from March 2015 until May 2016. It is built on interviews with Cookeville educators and economic leaders through a cradle to career storytelling path. Each episode focuses on a different developmental stage of our youth and adults and what we are doing in Cookeville and Putnam County to help them grow into citizens who enjoy a high quality of life through educational and economic opportunities. GROWING EDUCATION was an effort of American Graduate, a public media initiative of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. Lee Wray was project manager for WCTE's American Graduate initiative.

Pages 12-13 in the program guide will give you the shows and times.

JAMMIN AT HIPPIE JACK'S

FOUR CONCERTS TO BENEFIT RURAL COMMUNITIES

For years, Hippy Jack Stoddart has made an impact in the rural communities of the Upper Cumberland, whether it be by using his black and white photography to tell their stories or by simply supplying garden seeds. Now with your help, he wants to make a bigger impact on the people that are near and dear to his heart.

Jammin at Hippy Jack's (under the umbrella non-profit the Council Of Americana Roots Music (COARM)) will be hosting four fall events designed to raise awareness about economically marginalized communities that often find themselves underserved and ignored.

The first event is on Saturday September 24th will feature music by Leonard Anderson, Tommy John, Jared Tyler and Malcolm Holcombe. Between sets there will be discussions designed to raise awareness regarding the invisible people who continue to seek equal access to services many take for granted.

These non-ticketed events, taking place on the Hippy Jack farm in Overton County, will feature music, mobile food vending, access to the beautiful Obey River and, if you like, Friday/Saturday camping. Music will be from noon to 10pm.

"We are asking for specific donations to distribute to our brothers and sisters facing a winter just around the corner," explained Hippy. "The real emphasis of our event series is to collect childrens' coats, childrens' books, Christmas toys, and non-perishable food. Jammin at Hippy Jack's will cover all distribution costs.

"It is my personal feeling that art should demonstrate a social conscience. Music brings people together in so many ways. So come celebrate life, love, and friendship. Let's gather in the Music Sanctuary at the Hippy Jack farm on the banks of the Obey River and join together to better understand the need that still exists."

"Let's be part of the solution!"

These music-awareness events will take place:

September 24th
October 29th
November 19
December 17th

For more information, go to jamminathippiejacks.com or call 931-445-2072.

THERE'S A HIPPIE IN OUR LOBBY

Before Hippy Jack Stoddart was Producer and Director of the hit PBS series Jammin at Hippy Jack's, and before he was a music festival icon, a radio show host and a preservationist of Americana Roots Music, he was an outstanding photographer. He is primarily known for capturing beautiful images of the people and the landscapes of rural Tennessee, and his black and white photographs grace a variety of venues, including the Tennessee State Museum.

Hippy Jack has graciously lent us a few of his photographs for display in our lobby. You are welcome to drop by and have a look. We're at 229 E. Broad Street in Cookeville.

DISCOVER THE UPPER CUMBERLAND

CALKILLER BREWERY

by Celeste Flatt Bennett

It begins with a passion; a love for what you do and a determination to share the product of this love with the world around you.

Three miles north of Sparta and twenty-one miles south of Monterey off of TN Highway 84, better known as Calkiller Highway, you will find the custom but quaint red building, constructed from 100% Recycled materials, that houses the Calkiller Brewing Company. In the middle of nowhere with the winding cool waters of the Calkiller river at their back door step Don and Dave Sergio have fought hard to realize this dream.

In 2004 the Sergio brothers began brewing Calkiller beer and sharing it with family, friends, at special events, festivals and craft beer competitions. With much positive feedback from their craft beer consumers it did not take the Sergio's long to come to the decision of producing and marketing Calkiller beer on a larger scale.

Over the next several years the Sergio brothers dealt with the legalities of opening a brewery in White County, a dry county at the time that this venture began. Don and Dave fought the legal battles without ever losing sight of the goal.

Today Calkiller Brewing Company brews can be found not only in restaurants across the Upper Cumberland but also in several establishments in Nashville and Knoxville with four uniquely named mainstays that can be found year round. Depending on the time of year you may be able to experience one of many seasonal brews as well.

Calkiller Brewery invites you to visit their establishment for a tour, tasting or to shop the Calkiller merchandise. Call ahead the next time you're traveling through White County, Tennessee and make your reservation for a tour or watch for the Calkiller Brewing Company story on WCTE's Discover the Upper Cumberland in September.

Watch New Episodes of DISCOVER THE UPPER CUMBERLAND the 3rd Thursday of every month.

WCTE INTERNS

Jessika Chubb
Education Student Worker

I'm currently a Senior Business Marketing Student at Tennessee Tech and met Becky Magura at the College of Business Etiquette Dinner. I sent her a thank you card and received a follow-up call saying that she wanted to meet with me. At the meeting, I was offered an internship for the summer. I remember being very excited. My internship has been great and is helping me prepare for my career after graduation. I'm gaining valuable networking, professional, and assisting tools that I'll definitely use moving forward. I thank WCTE for giving me this experience."

(Since this interview, Jessika has been hired as a part-time temporary Educational Engagement Assistant.)

Hello there, I'm Dylan Ferguson. I've been an intern with WCTE for a year and one month. I've been filming Tech Football and Basketball games, some concerts, and some productions. I'll be attending MTSU this coming Fall. I want to work with ESPN or any Florida sports program. I love WCTE and the production crew, especially Desiree Duncan; she has helped me so much this past year.

Dylan Ferguson
Production Intern

Allison Hitchcock
Development Intern

My name is Allison Hitchcock and I'm 18 years old. I will be attending Sewanee in the fall while also playing basketball. I have not declared a major yet, but working with WCTE has opened my eyes to what a career would be like working for a nonprofit like this. I heard about WCTE from board member Mike Galligan, and he recommended that I try to get an internship. I feel like I have learned so much from just a summer as an intern, and I have gained a ton of experience that I will take into college.

Kate Spears, Social Media & Government Relations

Public media funding was included in both the final Senate and House Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies spending bills. This is a critical victory for us, and we could not have done it without your help. Since funding was included in both bills, we are well-positioned in the fall, when negotiations could take place between the House and Senate to finalize spending levels.

Thank you for making calls and sending messages in support of WCTE! And thank you for your dedication to our station and the work we are doing in the Upper Cumberland.

Our efforts to strengthen relationships with our legislators on both the state and federal level are ongoing and we don't take any small victories for granted! Every bit of momentum is the result of passion from committed individuals LIKE YOU!

Becky Magura, President & CEO of WCTE

WCTE is nearing 40 years of history in the Upper Cumberland, going on the air in 1978. The legacy of this PBS station and all that it has brought throughout the years in education, locally produced content and public service is significant and for many life changing.

The future of WCTE depends on the citizens of the Upper Cumberland embracing the importance of having a full power, broadcast public media station licensed to serve this region. It is why we are growing our membership, increasing our program and event sponsors and creating a new planned giving opportunity with WCTE's Legacy Society.

Planning for the future is so important for individuals and the organizations they care about. That is why I recently updated my will. In addition to my annual contributions through membership, I wanted to make sure that WCTE was included in my will. I know the difference this station has made and I want to see it continue long after I'm gone.

Having a plan is so simple and yet something many of us delay. We are planning for the future at WCTE and it is my wish that you consider placing the station in your plans. It can be as simple as designating a percentage of your estate or a designated amount or stock. It can also be with an endowed gift that is tax deductible, allowing WCTE to create a future fund where the principle investment would not be used. It can even be with a monthly sustaining contribution earmarked for the Legacy Society.

WCTE is your PBS station! Please join me in our new Legacy Society today. If you would like to discuss more about this exciting new endeavor, please contact me at 931-528-2222, ext. 311 or through my email at bmagura@wcte.org. I would love the opportunity to visit with you.

Becky

9/11 INSIDE THE PENTAGON Tuesday, September 6

As America marks the 15th anniversary of the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks on the U.S., PBS will broadcast a new documentary, 9/11 INSIDE THE PENTAGON. This film reveals new, first-hand accounts of the attack that took place at the heart of the US' military headquarters – an attack in which 184 people from inside the building and on board American Airlines flight 77 perished.

While most of the media coverage of the events of September 11 focused on New York City and United Flight 93, the story of what happened inside the Pentagon on that tragic day has never truly been told, until now.

"To know the full story of what happened on 9/11, we need to know what happened at the Pentagon," said Kirk Wolfinger, executive producer of 9/11 INSIDE THE PENTAGON. "It's remarkable that 15 years later, few of us really know the extent of the damage that took place there, the risk posed to our national defense apparatus and the dramatic stories of heroism that kept the Pentagon running throughout this ordeal.

Unlike those in New York City who were completely taken by surprise, those in Washington, DC, followed the news coming out of New York and realized that unaccounted-for flights still in the air would likely target significant, symbolic and strategic sites in the nation's capital—including the Pentagon.

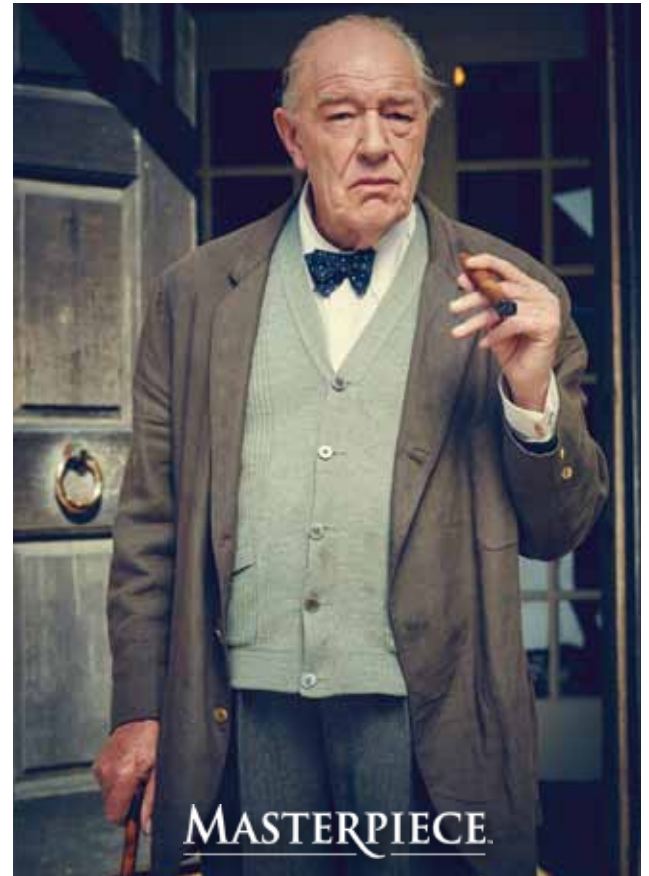

In the chaos that followed after Flight 77 struck the Pentagon, a group of workers inside would crawl through black smoke and pools of jet fuel looking for an exit, only to find themselves trapped behind a newly installed blast-proof window that was impossible to break open; emotional clashes over jurisdiction would break out between Pentagon personnel and first responders trying to find survivors in the wreckage; smoke would threaten to incapacitate the National Military Command Center; and an unaccounted-for plane would pose the threat of yet another strike.

CHURCHILL'S SECRET Sunday, September 11

Michael Gambon (Harry Potter, The Casual Vacancy) plays the greatest statesman of the twentieth century in his most difficult hour: a debilitating stroke which he seeks to hide.

Based on a true incident, the action opens in the summer of 1953. Churchill, age 78, is prime minister for the second time and as pugnacious as ever—until he is felled by a severe stroke while hosting a state dinner at 10 Downing Street. Lady Churchill manages to conceal the seriousness of her husband's sudden incapacity, while he is evaluated by his personal physician, Lord Moran, and later transported in worsening condition to his country home, Chartwell.

Summoned to care for the apparently dying prime minister is a remarkable young nurse, Millie Appleyard, who treats the world's most famous man as she would any other difficult patient: with compassion, firmness, and occasional indulgence. In the weeks that follow, the two bond over the Victorian poet William Ernest Henley, whose celebrated poem, "Invictus" (Latin for "unconquered"), helps inspire Churchill to relearn to speak, stand, and walk.

He is also determined to hold onto the reins of power, and Churchill's Secret tells the astonishing story of a bedridden, incapacitated leader who plots to outwit the high government officials who are maneuvering to replace him.

POLDARK SEASON 2

A Special 2-hour Premiere

Series begins Sunday, September 25

Aidan Turner returns to play ex-officer, class warrior, lover, and mining entrepreneur Ross Poldark. Called by The New York Times "the noblest, hottest, most down-to-earth hero." POLDARK, Season 2 is aired on Sundays in nine new episodes.

In 18th century Cornwall, times are as tough as the rocky shoreline: unemployment, hunger, and sickness are widespread among the working class, while the wealthy landowners prosper. Only one man dares to defy the status quo, and he is behind bars. What will become of our swashbuckling hero? Can the ever-resilient Demelza find a way to save him?

DOWNTON ABBEY Marathon Friday, September 2 - Monday, Sept. 5

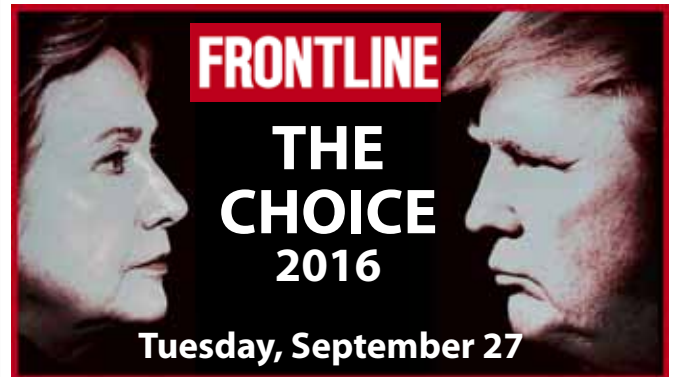

For those suffering from DOWNTON ABBEY withdrawal, missing their weekly dose of the joys and travails of the Crawley family and their servants, despair no longer. WXXI has scheduled a binge-worthy Labor Day weekend marathon of all six seasons of the top PBS drama of all time!

GREAT PERFORMANCES: Hamilton's America Friday, October 21

Visionary Lin-Manuel Miranda, the show's Tony and Grammy Award-winning creator and star, will host this year's PBS Arts Festival. GREAT PERFORMANCES "Hamilton's America" gives viewers a look at Miranda and his colleagues' creative process during the three years leading up to the Broadway opening of the record-breaking musical winner of 11 Tony Awards and the Pulitzer Prize.

PART OF THE PBS ARTS FESTIVAL

BILL MURRAY: The Mark Twain Prize Sunday, October 28

From the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, DC, some of the biggest names in comedy salute Emmy Award-winning actor and comedian Bill Murray, the 19th recipient of the Mark Twain Prize for American Humor.

An award-winning writer, actor and comedian, his brilliant wit and infectious spirit continue to inspire our laughter across generations both on and off the screen," said Kennedy Center President Deborah Rutter.

Murray, 65, is among the best-known stars to emerge from NBC's "Saturday Night Live." He performed on the groundbreaking television comedy show from 1977 to 1980 and honed his skills portraying insincere and lovably smarmy characters.

He portrayed a dim-witted groundskeeper in "Caddyshack," was a paranormal investigator in "Ghostbusters" and stood out as a mobster in "Mad Dog and Glory."

Murray was nominated for a Best Actor Academy Award for his portrayal of a jet-lagged movie star in "Lost in Translation." He has won two Emmy Awards.

In a statement, Murray said he was honored to receive the award. "I believe Mark Twain has rolled over in his grave so much for so long, that this news won't disturb his peace," he said.

DEFYING THE NAZIS: THE SHARPS' WAR

A FILM BY KEN BURNS AND ARTEMIS JOUKOWSKY

SEPTEMBER 20 AT 8PM

The 90-minute film tells the story of Waitstill and Martha Sharp, a Unitarian minister and his wife from Wellesley, Massachusetts, who left their children behind in the care of their parish and boldly committed to numerous life-threatening missions in Europe. Over two dangerous years, they helped to save hundreds of imperiled political dissidents and Jewish refugees fleeing the Nazi occupation.

"The story of Waitstill and Martha Sharp is one of the most incredible tales of compassion, sacrifice and heroism that I have ever heard, and I was completely unaware of it until five years ago when Artemis Joukowsky first shared it with me," said Ken Burns. "Nearly three years before America as a nation became involved in the Second World War, these two unassuming, so-called 'ordinary' Americans gave up everything they knew and loved and risked their lives to become involved in a war 4,000 miles away because they knew there were people in grave danger who needed help."

Artemis Joukowsky, a film producer and co-founder of No Limits Media, is the grandson of Waitstill and Martha Sharp and has spent decades researching their story. He is the author of a companion book to the film, featuring a foreword by Burns, which will be published by Beacon Press and released on September 6.

"Beyond the cloak-and-dagger suspense of my grandparents' experience, it is a story of what America meant to refugees fleeing war-torn countries to build new lives. And it underscores what Waitstill would call 'a collaborative effort' of how a small but effective underground network of rescue workers saved as many lives as they could, and how important that lesson is for what is happening today," said Joukowsky.

In January of 1939, as Americans remained mostly detached from news reports of the growing refugee crisis in the escalating war in Europe, Waitstill received a call from the Rev. Everett Baker, Vice President of the American Unitarian Association, asking if he and Martha would travel to Czechoslovakia to help provide relief to people trying to escape Nazi persecution. He invited them to take part in "the first intervention against evil by the denomination to be started immediately overseas." The mission would involve secretly helping Jews, refugees and dissidents to escape the expanding Nazi threat in Europe. If they were discovered, they would face imprisonment, probable torture and death. Seventeen other members of the church had declined. With two young children at home, the Sharps accepted. They expected to be gone for several months.

Instead, their mission would last almost two years.

During this time, the Sharps would face harrowing encounters with Nazi police, narrowly escape arrest and watch as the Third Reich invaded Eastern Europe. Their marriage would be tested severely and the two children they left behind would be saddened by their parents' absence. But dozens of Jewish scientists, journalists, doctors, powerful anti-Nazi activists and children would find their way to freedom and start new lives as a result of their efforts. To recognize their heroic sacrifice, Martha and Waitstill were honored at Yad Vashem in Israel and declared "Righteous Among the Nations." Of the thousands so honored, there are only five Americans, including the Sharps.

DEFYING THE NAZIS is cinematically told through the letters and journals of the Sharps, with Tom Hanks as the voice of Waitstill and Marina Goldman as the voice of Martha. It features firsthand interviews with the now adult children whom the Sharps saved, as well as leading historians, authors and Holocaust scholars, including William Schulz, Deborah Dwork, Modcai Paldi, Ghandi DiFiglia and Yehuda Bauer.

"The Sharps' early grasp of the true nature of the Nazi threat and their willingness to leave the safety of America and take action to help endangered refugees was a rare act at a time of widespread indifference," said Sara J. Bloomfield, director, United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. "Their courage and sacrifice should inspire us to reflect deeply on our own responsibilities in a world that also faces many challenges."

In conjunction with the broadcast, a wide range of organizations will participate in community outreach and engagement activities, creating screening events and conversations that focus on what it means to be "righteous," both as it relates to the Holocaust and genocide across the globe today.
