Rural Communities	Naptown to Super City	1/6/14	4:00pm	1 hour	How did this happen? How did a city so dead in the mid 1960s that pigeons were hunted with shotguns in the middle of downtown morph into a metropolis vibrant enough to attract the biggest media event in the world, the Super Bowl? Simple. Yet extraordinary. Naptown to Super City puts viewers in the front row of history as it happened, showing how Indianapolis leaders gambled on an unprecedented strategy -- civic development through sports -- and succeeded beyond their wildest dreams.
Black History	Mary Bateman Clark	2/20/14	4:00pm	60 minutes	In 1821, Mary Bateman Clark, an indentured servant, and her lawyer, Amory: Mary Bateman Clark: A Woman of Colour and Courage explores the pursuit of freedom and equality-a theme central to American history and to the complex and changing notions of race, slavery, and the law that existed in antebellum

					America, even in the North. The program focuses on the Indiana Supreme Court case of In re Mary Clark (1821). The 1816 Indiana constitution stated that, "There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in this state." Nevertheless, slavery and involuntary servitude did exist in Indiana after 1816. Led by Governor William Henry Harrison, Hoosiers created subterfuges (principally indenture) that enabled them to maintain what they believed were their property rights. Within this context, an African American woman, Mary Bateman Clark, and her lawyers challenged the indenture system. She won her freedom.
Elderly	Five Voices	3/5/14	4:00pm	30 minutes	Former Indiana First Lady Judy O'Bannon and four dear friends, all of whom were television personalities and community leaders "in the day", explore life in a free-wheeling kitchen-table conversation about the kinds of things that are on the minds of single women in their 70's and 80's. Ms. O'Bannon is joined by Pat Rooney, Barbara Boyd, Alpha Blackburn, and Lorene Burkhart.
Financial Abuse	Fleeced: Speaking Out for Senior Financial Abuse	3/12/14	4:30pm	30 minutes	A look at financial abuse of adults over age 65 and how policy changes can protect them. Fleeced explore what can happen to older adults when they're scammed and what can be done to prevent financial abuse.
