Have one family member start a drawing. It can be anything—a design, pattern, or picture of something. After a minute or two, pass it on to the next family member. Keep going until everyone has had a chance to add something. Congratulations! You’ve created “accidental art!”