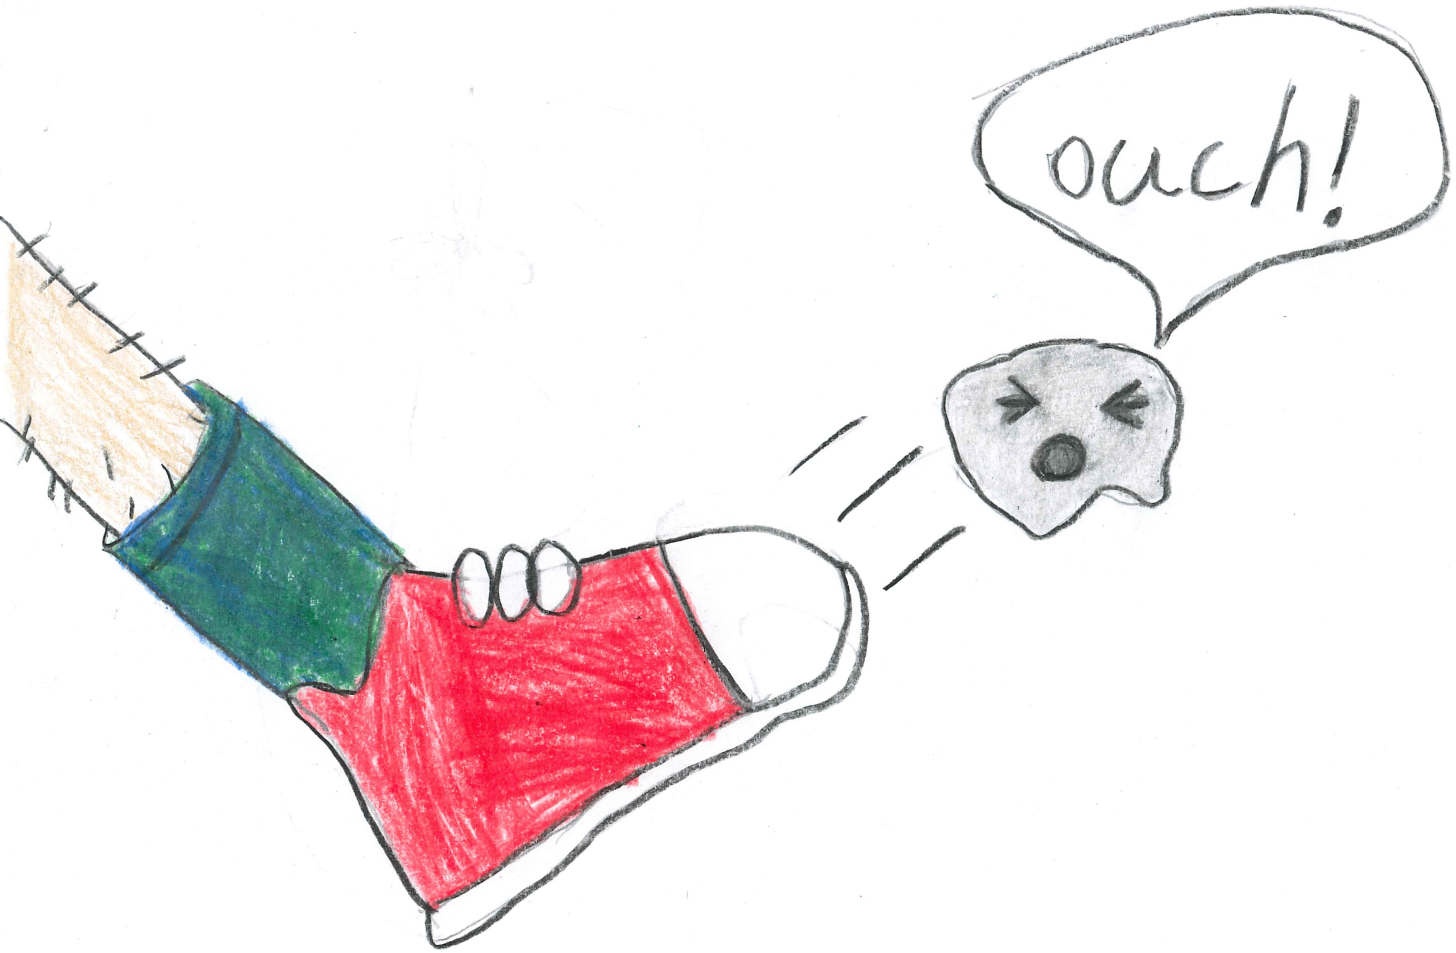
If Rocks Had Feelings...

By Soussanne Elsayed

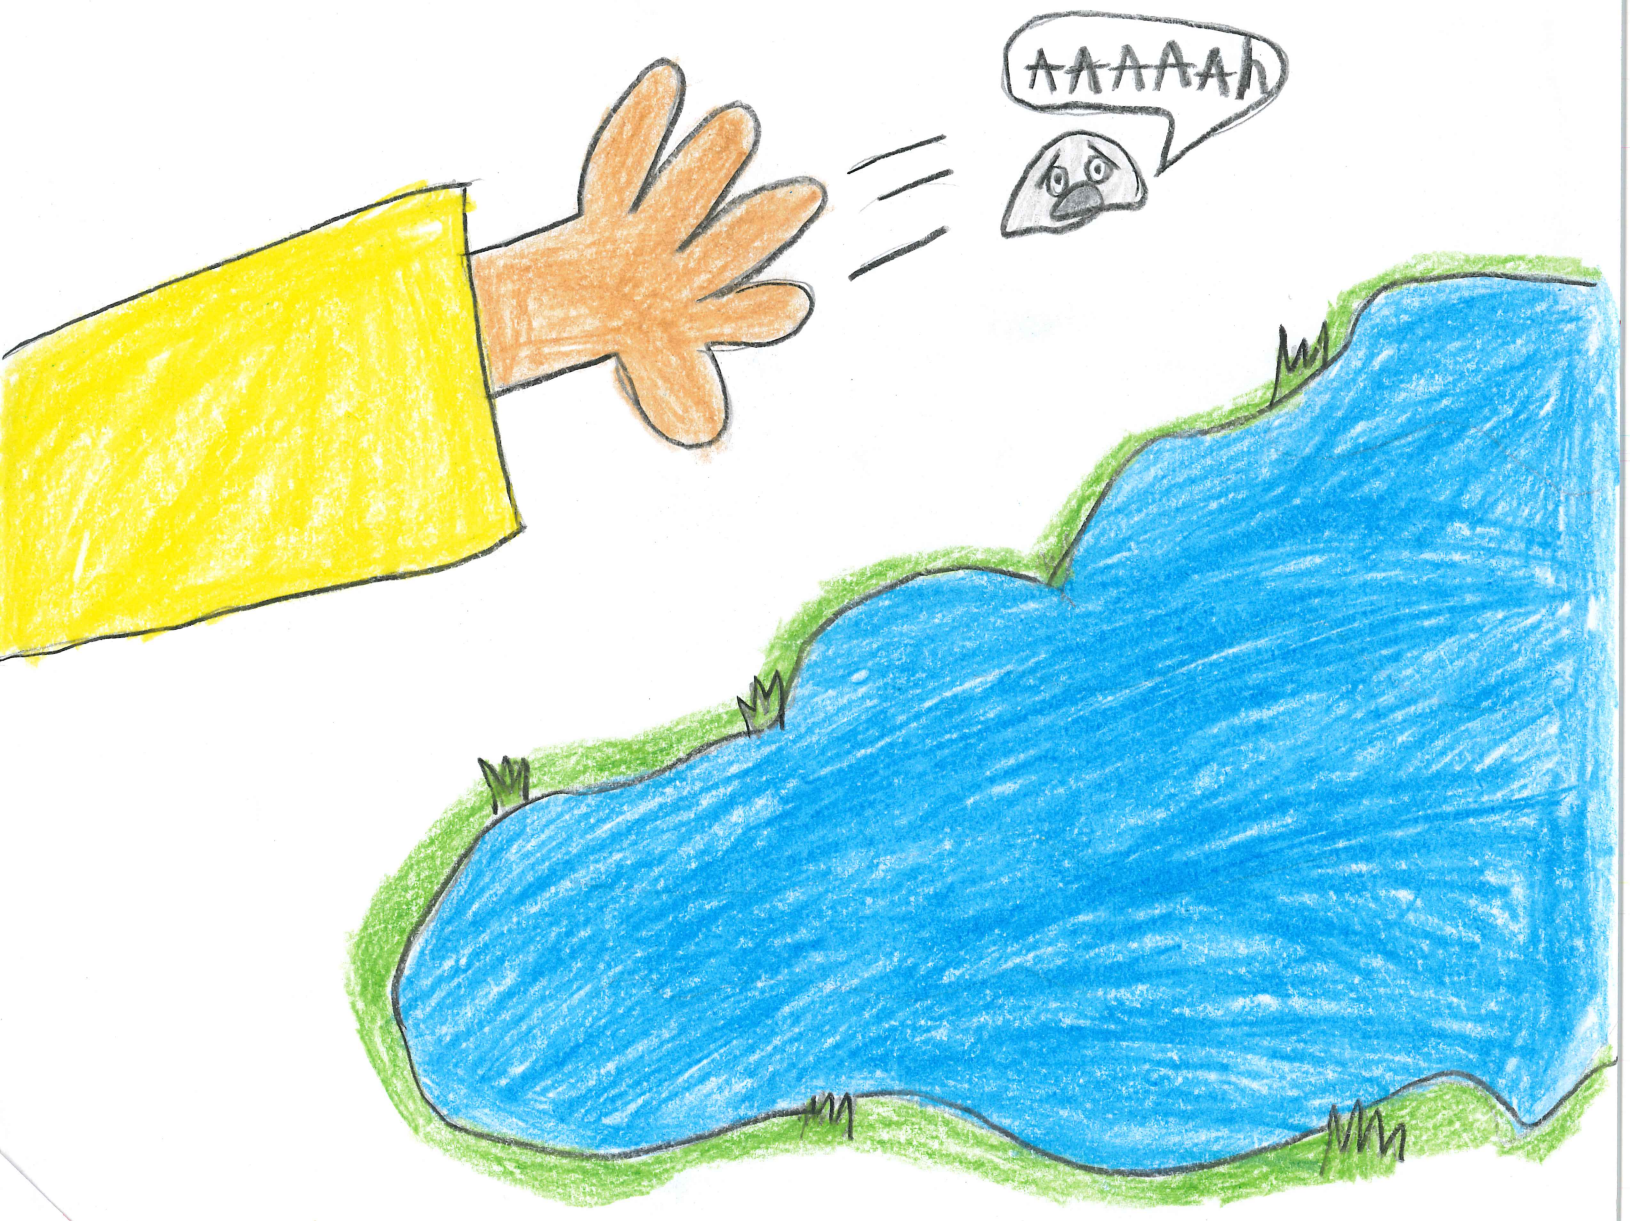
If rocks had feelings, then the rocks that get stepped on by rock climbers would feel angry!

If rocks had feelings, then the rocks that live deep in the ocean would feel wet and lonely.

If rocks had feelings, then the rocks that get kicked around would feel hurt.

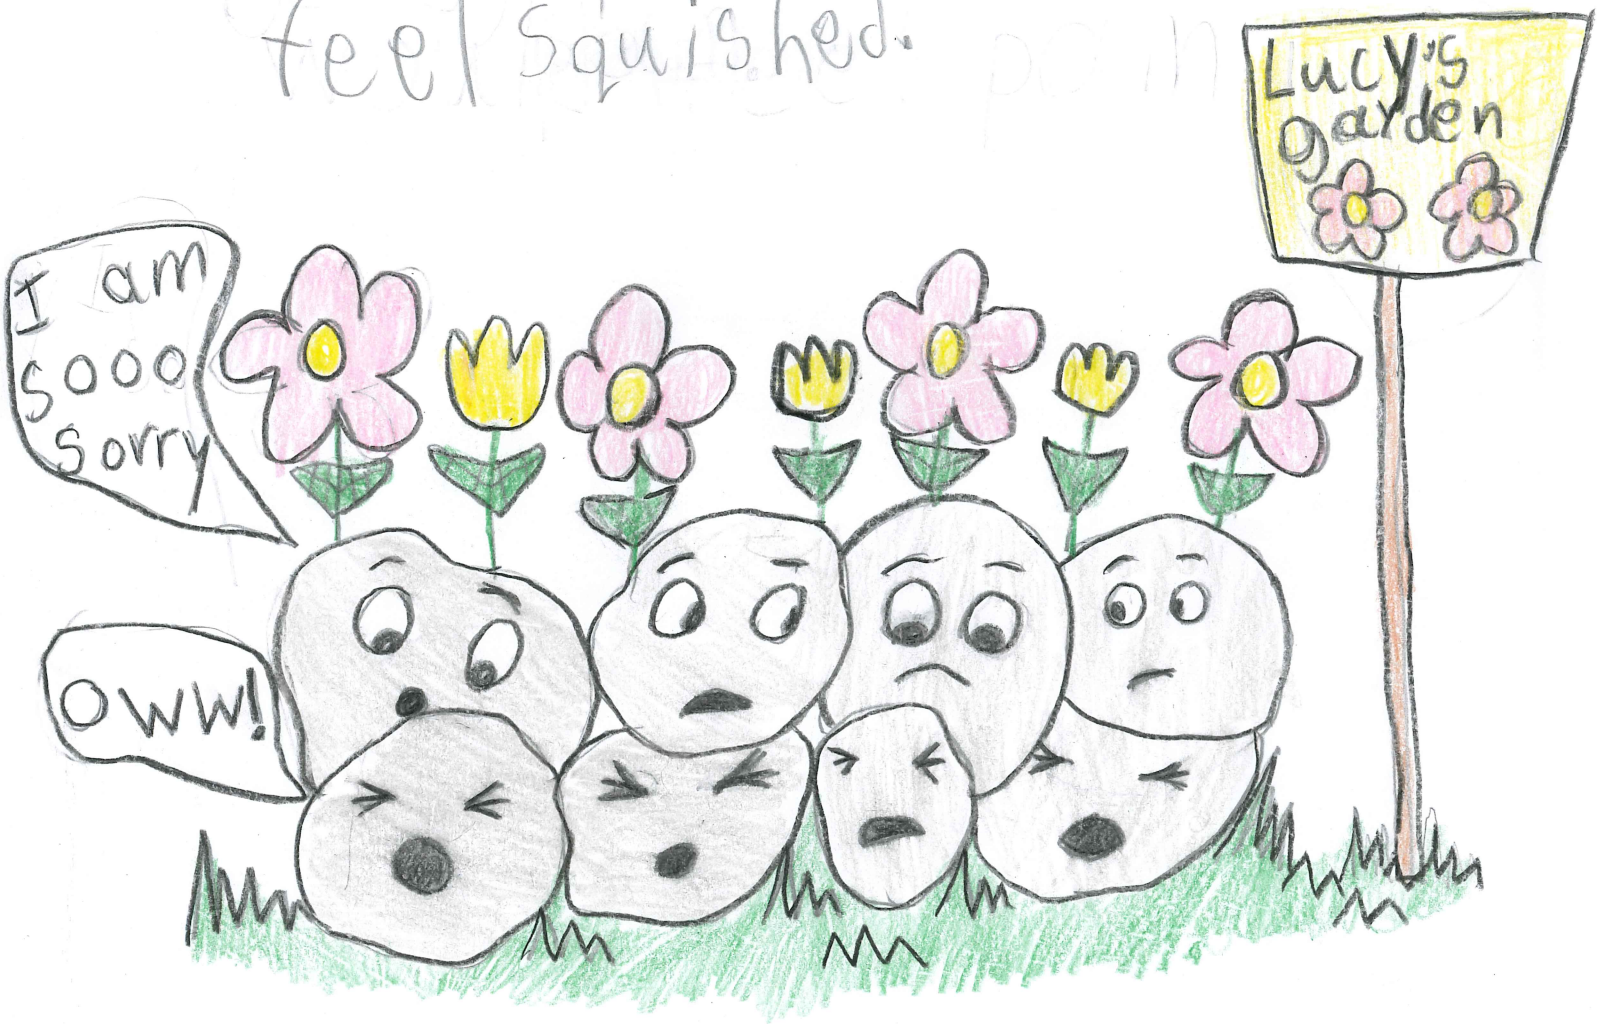


If rocks had feelings, then the rocks that get thrown in the pond by kids would feel scared.



If rocks had feelings, then the rocks that have bugs living under them would feel ticklish.

If rocks had feelings, then the rocks that have other Rocks on top of them would feel squished.



If rocks had feelings, then the huge load of rocks that get dumped on the dirt road would feel dizzy.

If I knew rocks had feelings, then I wouldn't kick them, throw them or step on them. I would spread the word to the world so that everyone would care about rocks!