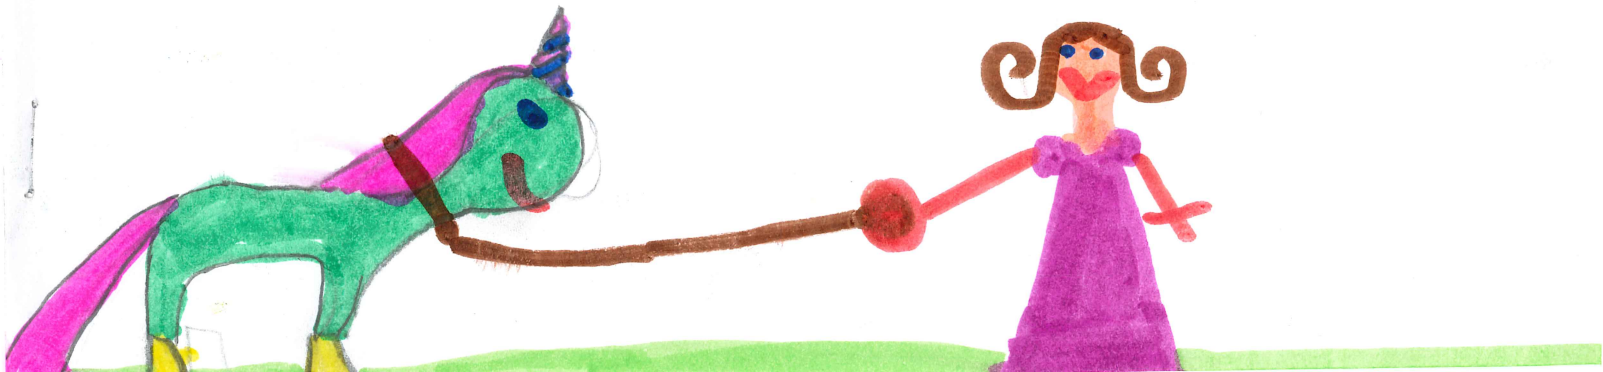
Bella and Twisty.

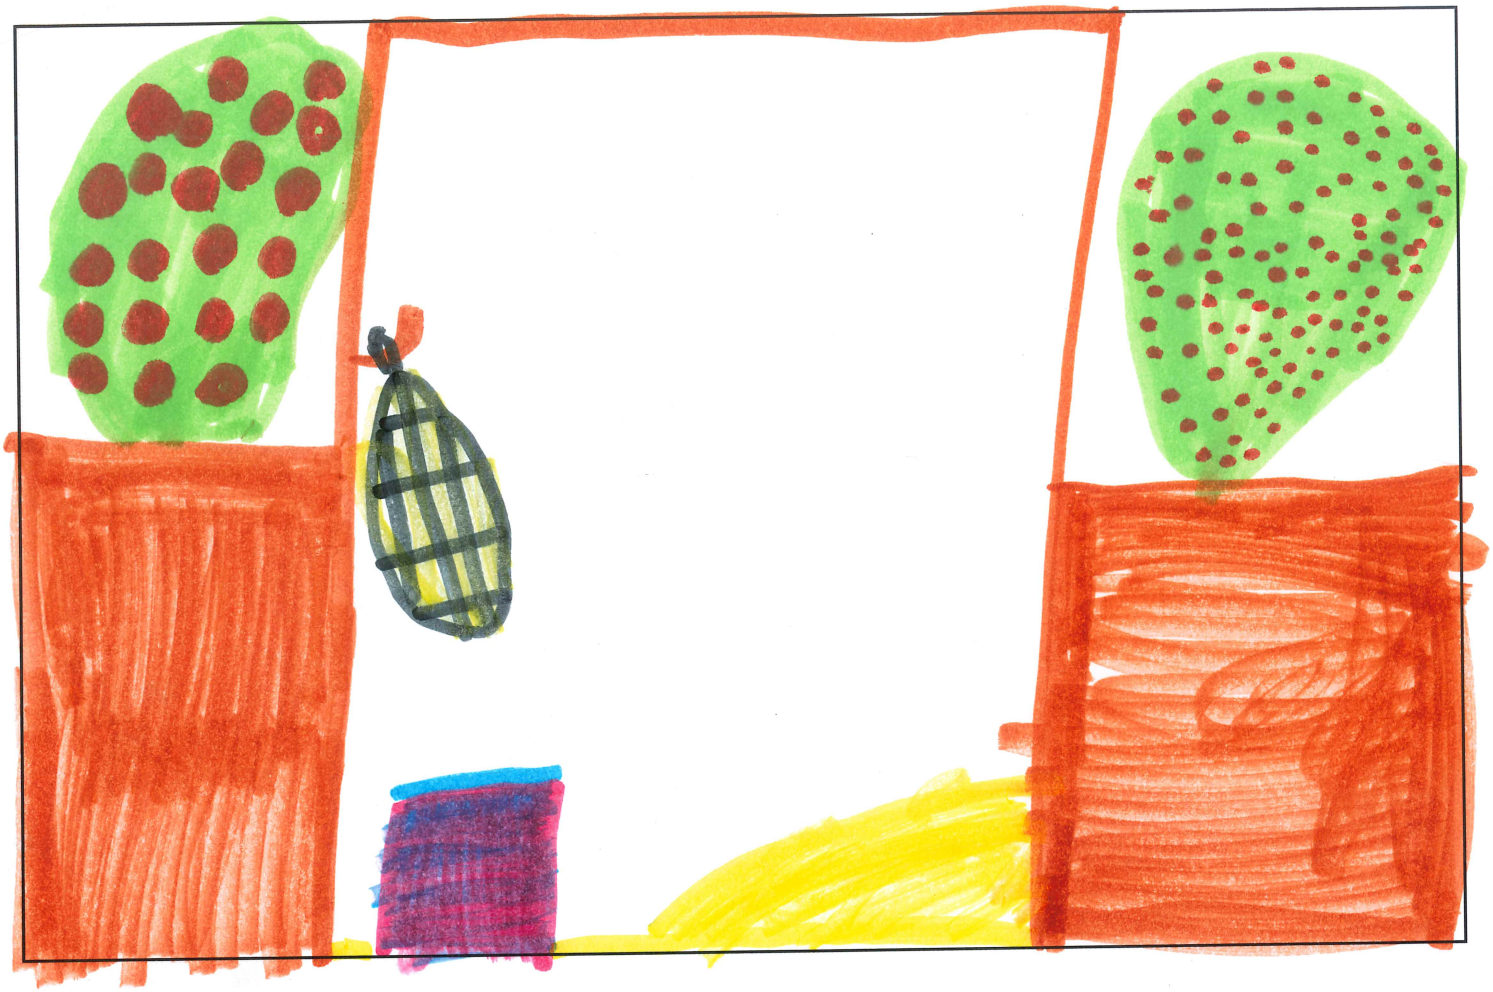
by Hannah Ehrichs



Far, far away there lived an eight year old princess named Bella. Bella loved pretending to be a unicorn.

She loved to write, draw, and ride on her magic carpet. Her favrite fruit was limes.

One day Bella saw a group of unicorns. One unicorn had a baby. Bella asked if she could keep the baby unicorn. The mother said yes. Bella named her Twisty.



Twisty loved to smell flowers.
One day when Bella went to feed Twisty she was not there. She had run away.
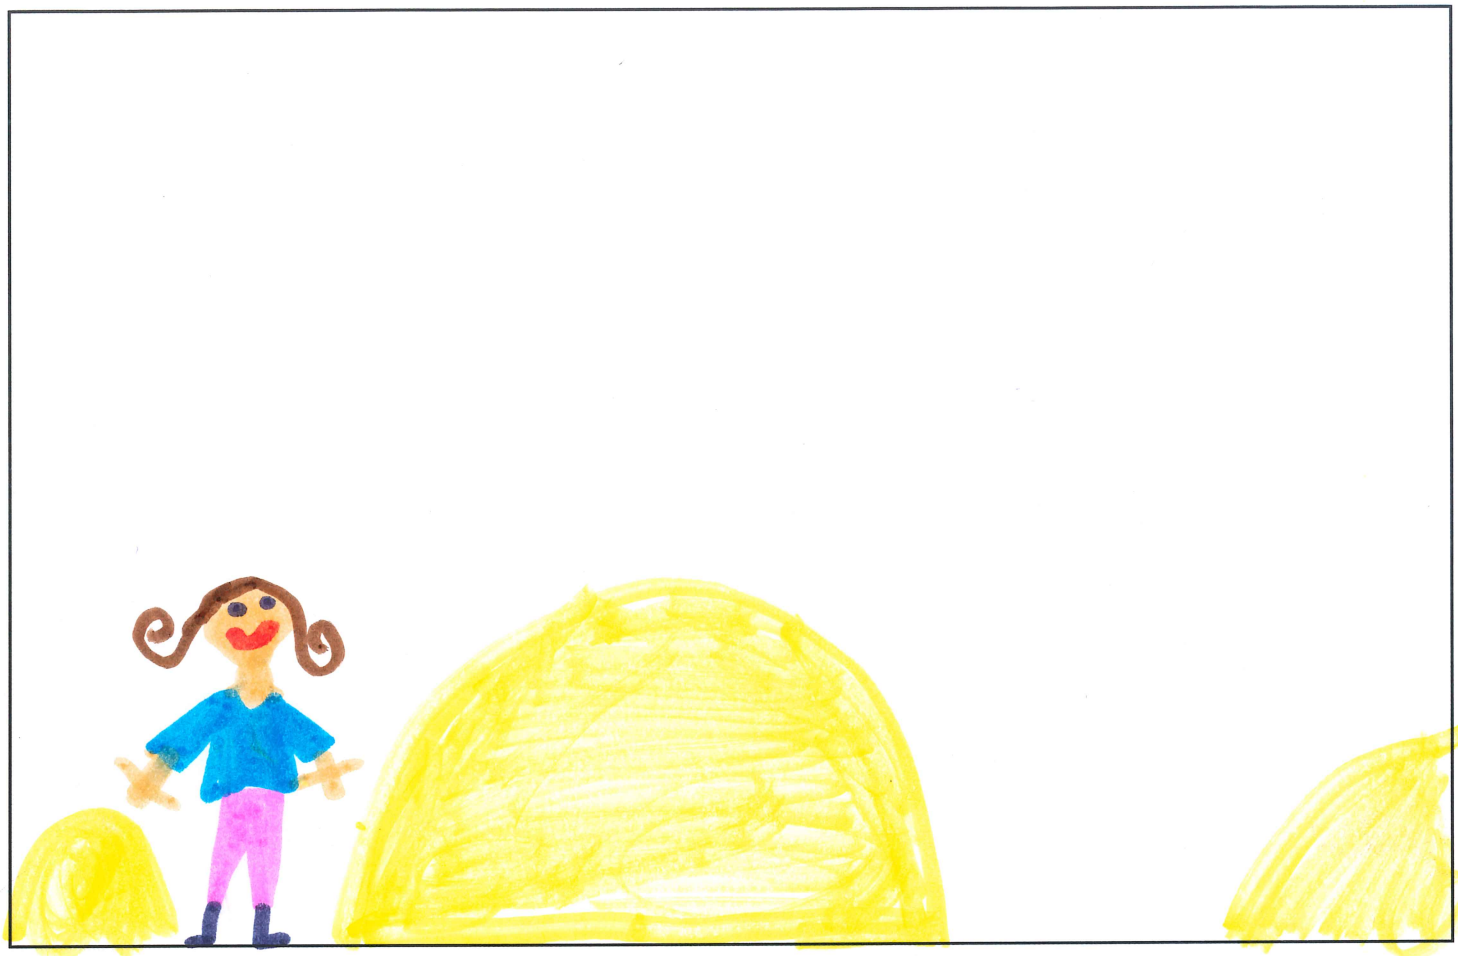
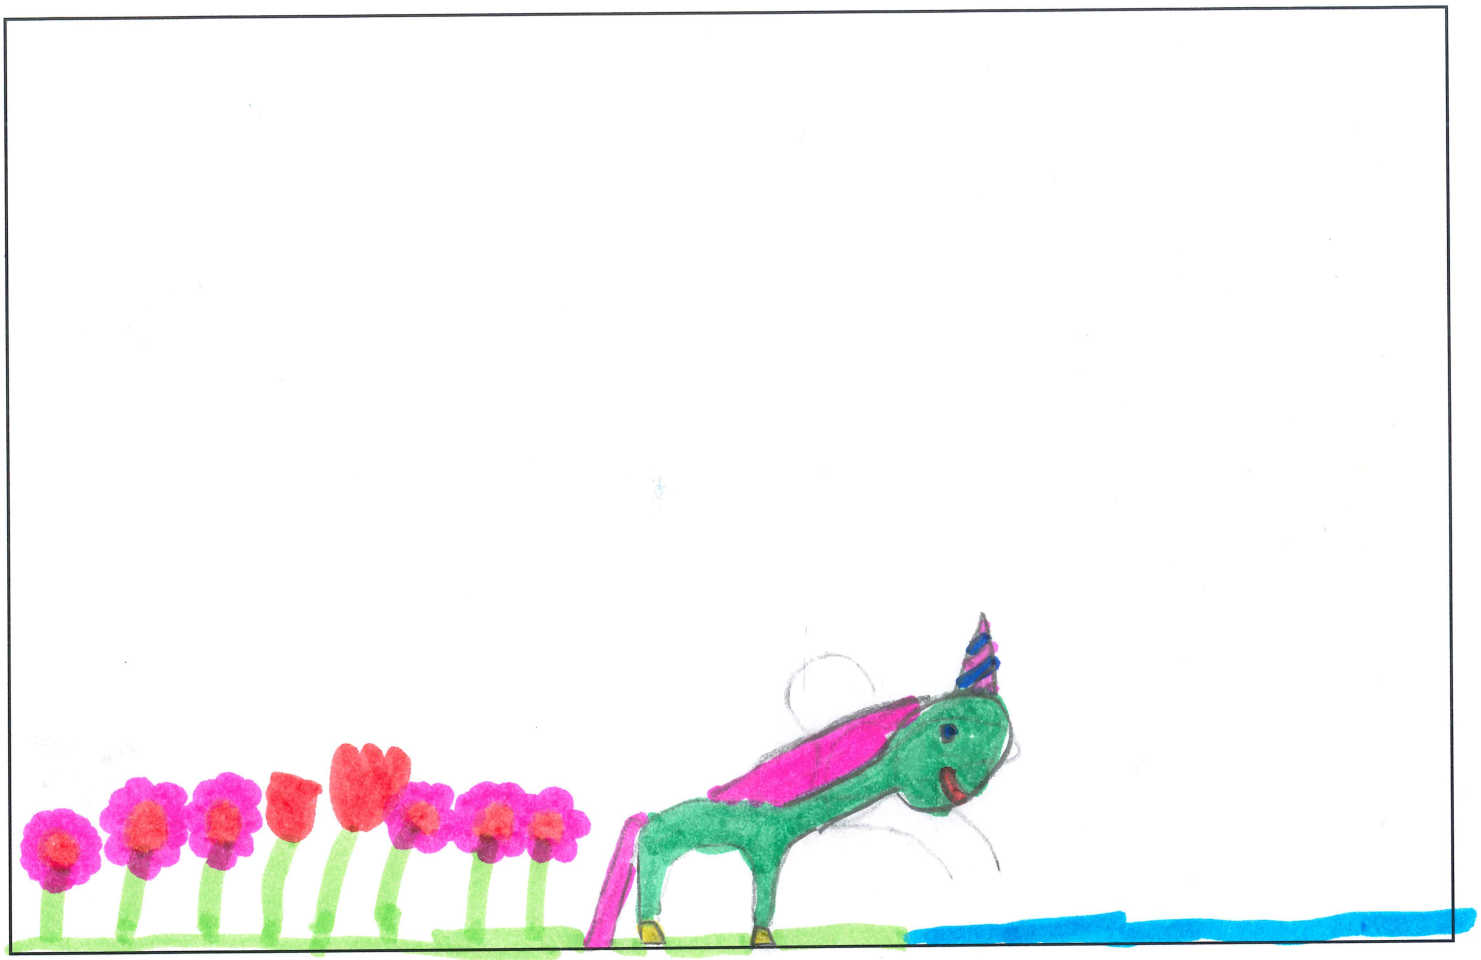
Bella was very sad.



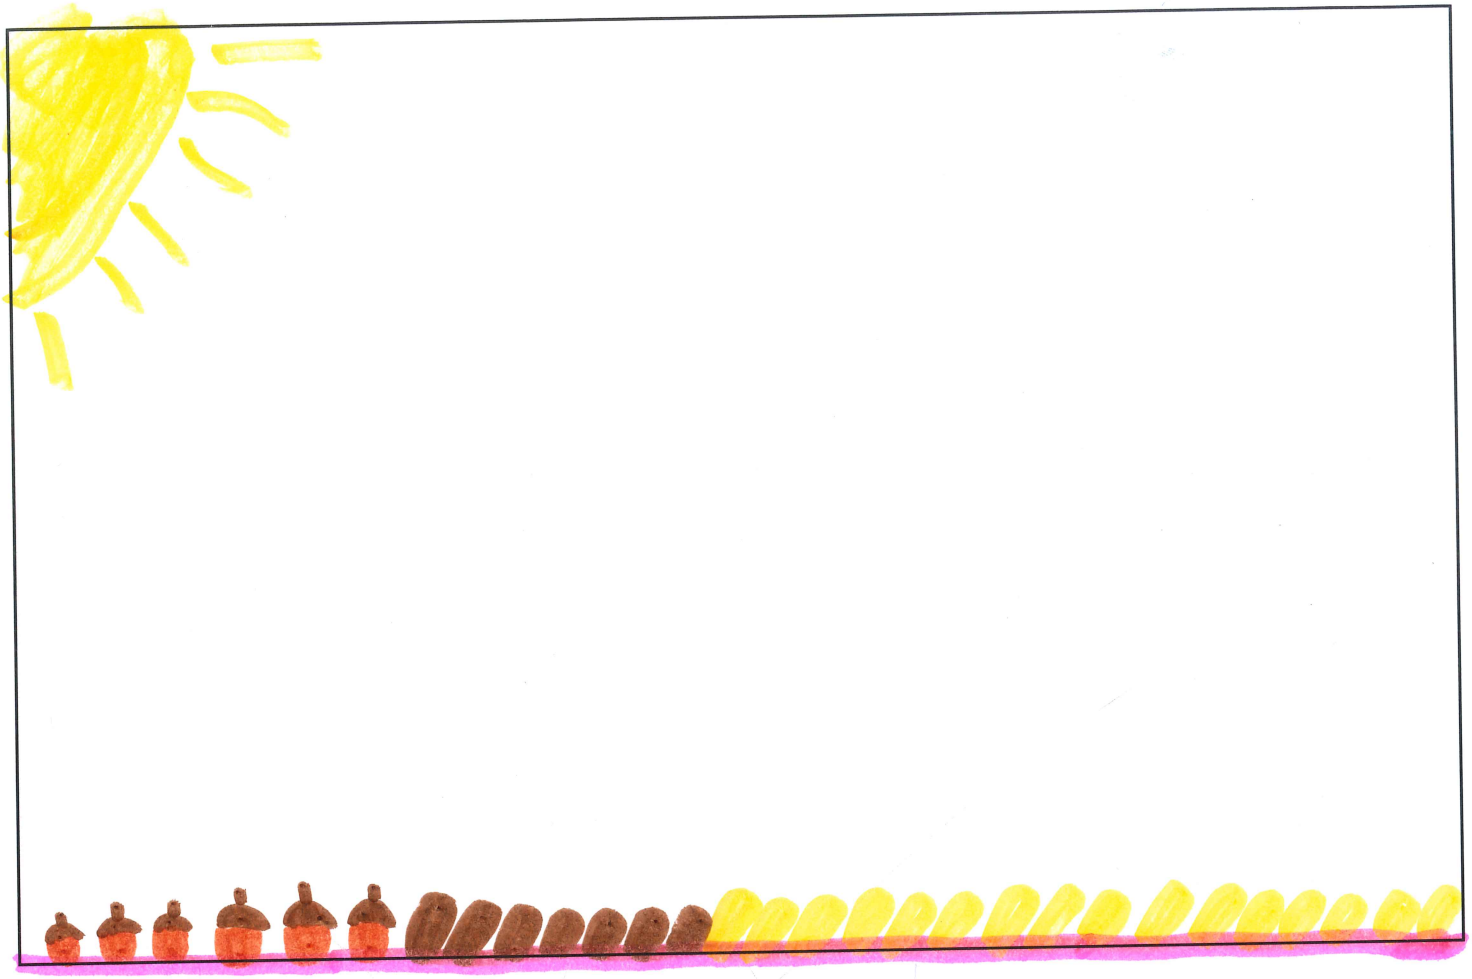
Every day she looked. She looked everyware. The Barn, behind the hay stacks everyware.

Two weeks later Bella was feeling very miserable. She thought she would never see her again.



Bella was going to pick flowers in the meadow when she saw Twisty drinking water at the pond.

Bella was so very happy and she rode Twisty back to the stable. Twisty told her she had wanted to find a better kind of food. Bella asked what kind of food she was looking for.



Twisty was looking for nuts. Bella said She would feed her nuts for the rest of her life.
